Russia Handed U.S. 'No' Chiefs Of Staff Won't Go To Russia Now

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower, continuing his "excellent" recovery from major surgery, Monday rejected an informal Russian invitation to send the U.S. Joint Chiefs of Staff on a visit to the Soviet Union this month.

It was the President's first announced policy decision on foreign-military affairs since he was rushed to Walter Reed Army Hospital last Friday for an emergency abdominal operation.

It came as somewhat of a surprise since there had been some indications lately that the White House would welcome such a visit. A 6 p.m. bulletin—the last planned until Tuesday—said: "The President's progress continues to be satisfactory. His pulse, blood pressure, temperature and respiration remain stable and essentially normal."

Little Sedation
"He has slept a good portion of the day. He requires little sedation."

The doctors said Eisenhower made two roundtrips from his bed to an easy chair and back again—for a total of 80 feet—and needed very little assistance in his walking.

During the morning he was permitted to have a 10-minute talk with his chief White House assistant, Sherman Adams.

The two disposed of several problems arising from the President's second major illness in nine months, but not the prime political question: Whether he will change his mind about seeking reelection.

Told of Invitation
Press Secretary James C. Hagerty told newsmen that the President had been in the hospital only three hours Friday when he was advised of the new Russian proposal, just received at the Pentagon.

It was an informal sounding-out of what this government's reaction would be if Moscow should invite the three other members of the U. S. Joint Chiefs to accompany Air Force Gen. Nathan F. Twining to the Russian Aviation Day Observance June 24. Twining's trip already has been approved.

Monday Adams brought a proposed reply and Hagerty said Eisenhower approved it. It has now been delivered to the Russians.

In the reply, the President left the door open for future visits to Russia by the other members of the Joint Chiefs if they should be invited. They are Adm. Arthur Radford, Chairman, Adm. Leigh Burke, chief of naval operations, and Gen. Maxwell Taylor, Army chief of staff.

But at the moment, the Russians were told, it would be "impracticable" to accept the group invitation, and it would be "not likely" in the future that more than two of the chiefs would accept for any one trip.

Further, any acceptance would be only on the understanding that the American military chiefs be permitted, as Hagerty phrased it, "maximum time outside of Moscow for visits to those activities of special interest to their own services."

A reporter interrupted Hagerty with a question: "The President made the final decision?"

Train Demolishes Stalled Car

A Burlington Zephyr coming into Lincoln demolished this stalled car on the North 27th Street railroad crossing Monday night. Mrs. Stella Geelan of 1733 R fled from her car to safety as the car "flew to pieces" under the impact. (Star Staff Photo.)

She Saved Her Groceries—

Woman Flees Death, Zephyr Hits Car

A 36-year-old Lincoln woman grabbed her groceries and fled from death Monday night as an eight-car Burlington Zephyr bore down on her stalled auto.

"I ran out of gas," said Mrs. Stella M. Geelan of 1733 R as she surveyed the auto's ruins. Two motorists halted their cars in a vain attempt to push Mrs. Geelan's car from the tracks.

"One of the men yelled 'run,'" she said. "I looked up and saw the light of a train coming from the east."

"For some reason I grabbed a sack of groceries and then ran," she said. "I ran about 60 feet and saw the train hit the car, knocking it all to pieces."

Conductor W. W. Jones of 3020 Sewell said the train was going about 60 m.p.h., police reported. Earl Closson of 5210 Randolph was the engineer.

When the Zephyr stopped, police said, the rear of the train was a block and a half beyond the crossing. The Geelan car was hurled some 30 feet down an embankment west of the crossing. The motor of the car landed 35 feet beyond the rest of the wreckage.

One of the men who attempted to push the car, Harvey Drews of 1234 Belmont, drove the distraught woman to her home.

Police said the Geelan car was going south on 27th and the train was headed for Lincoln from Chicago. A local train agent said the Zephyr is normally due in Lincoln at 6:40 p.m.

U.S. Nike Program May Halt Talos Weapon Looks Better —Chavez

WASHINGTON (INS) — Sen. Dennis Chavez (D-NM), said Monday night his Military Appropriation subcommittee will halt the Army's Nike missile program if tests show the Talos, developed by the Air Force, is the better weapon.

The chairman of the group which approves military spending made his statement after hearing the Army, Navy and Air Force chiefs of staff in closed session.

Chavez said the three service chiefs were asked to run tests as soon as possible to determine the merits of the Army's Nike anti-aircraft missile and the Air Force's counterpart, the Talos which is still in experimental stage.

He told newsmen: "It looks from the evidence at the hearings that the Talos is a better weapon than the Nike. The Nike is a good weapon, not obsolete whatsoever, and it can be of substantial use for defense."

"Nevertheless, if the tests indicate the Talos is the better weapon, as it looks now, then it appears the committee will recommend that only that weapon be procured in the future."

The Nike program has cost about 800 million dollars up to now. The administration is asking several hundred million more dollars in the current defense budget for expansion of the Nike program.

Chavez indicated that his committee decided to await the outcome of the tests before deciding on whether the additional funds should be allowed.

The Senate chairman declared that all three service chiefs were in agreement that the Talos will prove to be the better weapon.

Clown Loses His Hand In Big Joke; Show Goes On

SHREVEPORT, La. (INS) — Lawrence-the-clown was doing all right in Shreveport Monday after his greatest performance.

Lawrence Anderson, a clown with the Jimmy Lynch thrill show, had a huge firecracker in his hand running around the big tent giving the kids a great time.

But the clown misjudged the fuse and it exploded in his hand. The crowd roared. A good act.

Lawrence kept right on running around the ring, holding his hand up and the kids all thought the red stuff was catnip — but Lawrence-the-clown had just lost a hand.

Following the performance he was treated at a Shreveport hospital.

DEMOS PUSH: 'Giving Away' Claims

Group Of Experts Set Up To Press Their Charges

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Democratic National Committee announced Monday it has set up a special group to press Democratic charges that the Eisenhower administration is "giving away" the nation's natural resources.

National Chairman Paul Butler said a special advisory committee headed by Oscar Chapman, former secretary of the interior, will draft the party's election-year strategy on the resources issue. Butler said in a statement that the committee "will devise means by which the importance of the issue — the Eisenhower-Republican record of anti-conservation — and a sound and an aggressive Democratic program for the future will be carried to the nation's voters."

'Experts'
He described the group as composed of "outstanding experts in the field of land, water and energy."

In his statement, Butler renewed the Democratic attack on the administration's resources policy, particularly as it affects water power development.

He said the administration is "dominated and directed by the privately owned power companies of America and big business." He said the administration is "guilty of 'anticonservation at its worst since the days of Harding, Coolidge and Hoover.'"

Remeasure
WASHINGTON (INS) — Democratic chairman Paul Butler said Monday he thinks President Eisenhower "will want to remeasure" his capacity for another term in the White House when he has convalesced from his second illness in nine months.

In an exclusive interview with INS-Telenews TV newscast, Butler said he does not know whether Mr. Eisenhower will seek re-election but that, if he does, his health "will certainly be one of the major issues" this fall.

"What we are concerned about," said the Democratic national chairman, "is whether his health will affect his capacity or his will to carry out the constitutional duties of the presidency."

"This, I think, is a legitimate issue and I am certain that if Mr. Eisenhower does decide to run again, he will welcome full and frank debate as to his capacity to serve out a second term without diminishing the office of the presidency."

Fremont Slaying Scene

Single Pistol Shot Kills Marine

Lincoln Star Special
FREMONT, Neb. — A Massachusetts youth was killed by a single shot through the head as he slept on a lake shore west of Fremont late Monday and authorities reported an AWOL airman from Wyoming had confessed the shooting.

Dodge County Attorney William Line said Jerry Lee Vernon, 18, of Montgomery, Ala., confessed the killing of Richard A. Bossa, 20. Line said Vernon told him his motive was robbery.

Line said he had learned that Bossa had picked up Vernon and Stephen Franke, 17, of Freeport, N.Y., at Sidney, Neb., Sunday and had driven them across Nebraska. Line said Vernon and Franke were absent without leave from Ft. Warren, Cheyenne.

Bossa, a private in the Marine Corps, stationed at Pendleton, Ore., was going home on leave to East Bridgewater, Mass., according to authorities.

Slept In Car

Vernon and Franke told the county attorney they arrived at the lakes early Monday morning and went to sleep in the Marine's car.

Monday afternoon, Bossa decided to take another nap on the lakeshore. When Bossa had fallen asleep, Vernon took the Marine's .32 calibre gun from the car, walked to the sleeping man's side, bent over and fired, Line said.

The shooting took place at 4:30 p.m.

Then, Line said, Vernon took $147 from Bossa's pocket, went back to the car and slugged Franke with the gun. When Franke came to Vernon was still there, and Franke quoted him as saying, "I'm sorry." Then he told of shooting Bossa.

Had Some Money
Vernon said that he knew Bossa had some money, but that he didn't know how much, according to Line.

Franke said that he and Vernon started walking to town then. On the way, Franke told a farmer what had happened and the farmer informed Deputy Sheriff Sam Vlahon at his home, according to Vlahon.

Vlahon reported that he then called the sheriff, and set out to find Vernon. He picked up Vernon and Franke up along the highway and drove to the murder scene where he met the sheriff. Sheriff Pelham McGee then took custody of the two men.

County Attorney Line said Vernon would be arraigned Tuesday in Justice Court on a charge of first degree murder.

CHADRON TEMPS HIT 101 DEGREES

A 101-degree temperature at Chadron was the highest in the state Monday as a sweltering covered most of the interior of the nation.

Gila Bend, Ariz., recorded 110 and the thermometer registered 93 in Denver.

It was the first time this year a reading of 100 degrees or higher had been reported in Nebraska.

All 10 reporting stations in the state had temperatures in the 90's, the Weather Bureau said.

It was 90 in Lincoln, 91 in Omaha and 98 at Imperial and Scottsbluff.

Lowest reading was 60, reported by both Lincoln and Sidney.

Nebraskans can expect temperatures to be equally high Tuesday, the weatherman said.

But widely scattered showers in the southwest, were expected to bring some relief.

House Chops Billion From Foreign Aid

MOVE TO KILL BILL REJECTED

Senate Must Act

WASHINGTON (AP) — By a 273-122 vote, the House Monday passed and sent to the Senate a $3,800,000,000 foreign aid measure chopped more than a billion dollars below President Eisenhower's request.

The showing of "Nos" on the final roll call vote highlighted strong congressional election-year sentiment that the $4,900,000,000

Nebraska's four Republican representatives were on the losing side as the House passed the foreign aid authorization bill. Representatives Chase, Harrison and Weaver voted against the bill and Rep. Miller was paired against the measure.

Eisenhower asked for overseas military and economic aid is too much.

The bill faces more controversy in the Senate where the Foreign Relations Committee is slated to start voting on it Wednesday.

Senate Committee Chairman George (D-Ga.) is backing an administration drive to restore part of the funds cut, but some influential senators say the House as should have gone deeper. As passed by the House, the measure still provides for a program $1,100,000,000 bigger than Congress appropriated for foreign aid last year. The new program is for the 12 months starting July 1.

Conference Planned
The White House — spurned by the House despite appeals by Eisenhower and leaders of both parties for more funds — arranged a bipartisan conference of Senate leaders for later this week.

Antarctic East-West Visit Seen

Little America Team Talks To Reds

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Navy said Monday its Antarctic winter base at Little America has established radio contact with the Russian station 1,650 miles across the frozen continent.

As a result of the contact, the Navy said, "visits from American and Russian stations by representative groups have been suggested."

It did not indicate whether arrangements have been made for exchange visits between the two camps.

A Navy announcement said the first contact with the Russian camp—at Mirny on the Knox Coast—was made last month. Since then, it said, there have been several exchanges of weather information.

Best Wishes
The Russians extended their best wishes to Rear Adm. Richard E. Byrd, Rear Adm. George J. Dufek, commander of the Navy's Antarctic operation "Deepfreeze," and Cmdr. Herbert W. Whitney, Little America base commander.

The current winter closed in over Antarctica more than a month ago. The 73 men at Little America and the 83 living 400 miles farther along the Ross Sea Coast, at Williams Air Operating Facility on McMurdo Sound, are enveloped in the black winter night which lasts more than four months.

Rockefeller, Miss Edris Are Married

HAYDEN LAKE, Idaho (AP) — Winthrop Rockefeller, 44, took his second wife Monday with none of the fanfare that surrounded his ill-fated Cunderella marriage to Bobo Rockefeller.

The new bride is Jeanette Edris, 37, daughter of William Edris, a Seattle, Wash., financier. It is her fourth marriage.

A small group of friends and members of her family attended the ceremony at her father's summer home here. After a honeymoon, the couple will live at Rockefeller's Morrison, Ark., model cattle farm. The bride's attendant was her daughter by a previous marriage, Anne Bartley, of New York.

The wedding was in quiet contrast to the bridegroom's marriage Feb. 14, 1948, to the former Barbara (Bobo) Sears, daughter of a coal miner.

The wedding to Bobo climaxed a Cunderella romance between a grandson of the late Croesus John D. Rockefeller, and the blonde charmer from a walkup flat on Third Avenue.

Rockefeller and Bobo had a son Sept. 17, 1948, but by 1950 their marriage was crumbling and talk of divorce was in the air.

A bitter financial wrangle ended in 1954 when Bobo accepted a $12 million dollar settlement.

She divorced Rockefeller in Nevada Aug. 3, 1954. Rockefeller moved from New York to Arkansas in 1953. Miss Edris previously was married to Bruce Bartley, Donald N. McDonnell, and Nathan Barrager.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Agriculture Department announced that work may now go ahead on 13 locally initiated watershed and flood prevention projects in nine states.

Approved previously by state agencies and the department itself, the projects were approved this week by the Senate and House Agriculture Committee.

Included is the Plattsmouth Creek Watershed in Cass County, Nebraska.

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (INS) — U. S. budget director Percival F. Brundage predicted that for the first time in years, Uncle Sam will finish the 1956 fiscal year with a surplus.

Brundage told delegates to the southern states accountants conference, meeting at Miami Beach, that the "balanced budget for which President Eisenhower has been striving . . . seems to be assured."

The budget director predicted a surplus of $1.8 billion.

Simple New Test Detects 'Hidden' Heart Attacks

CHICAGO (AP) — A simple new blood test for detecting "hidden" heart attacks was hailed Monday as the most important forward step in diagnosis since the electrocardiograph was introduced early in the century.

Dr. Frank P. Foster of the Lahey Clinic, Boston, described the test—called transaminase determination—at the annual meeting of the American Medical Assn.

The test is designed to detect incidents of heart damage known as myocardial infarction. This occurs when blood supply to a portion of the heart muscle is blocked off by a clot or narrowing of an artery. The affected portion of the heart then dies.

Quick and accurate diagnosis and proper treatment often can mean the difference between life and death.

But heart attack symptoms can be confusing. Many other conditions mimic them.

The electrocardiograph has been the chief tool for showing what has happened, but the heart can play queer tricks. Dr. Foster said electrocardiograph changes may be completely absent or slow to appear. Such changes also may be completely absent or slow to appear. Such changes also may be noted when heart disease is not involved.

The blood test is based on the fact that dying heart muscle cells release the enzyme transaminase into the blood stream. This enzyme is measured photoelectrically.

Describing the test as one of the leading medical advances of the year, he said.

"Transaminase may be the first important diagnostic aid since the introduction of the electrocardiograph."

He listed the other major medical advances as the tranquilizing drugs for mental conditions, advances in the cortisone hormones for treating disease, new concepts in infection and the discovery of two derivatives of the sulfa drugs used in treatment of diabetes.

Stalin Tagged Sex Maniac

PARIS (AP) — Nikita S. Khrushchev, world Communism's boss, was quoted Monday by a French newspaper as labeling Joseph Stalin a sex maniac whose police recruited for him a harem of underage girls.

The newspaper France-Sour, reporting this in a dispatch from Vienna, said Khrushchev also confirmed a suspicion widely held in the West that Stalin killed his second wife.

Khrushchev, first secretary of the Soviet Communist party, was quoted as suggesting Stalin's crimes were so heinous he should be tried posthumously. Stalin died three years ago.

Khrushchev, said France-Sour, reported Stalin assigned his police chief, Lavrenty P. Beria, to recruit a harem of teen-age girls.

some of whom disappeared later under mysterious circumstances. Khrushchev is reported to have explained that in his later years Stalin was subject to a sort of erotomania — sex madness — and to have related some "particularly odious details" of sexual cruelty to the girls.

House Chops Billion From Foreign Aid

MOVE TO KILL BILL REJECTED

... Senate Must Act

WASHINGTON (AP) — By a 273-122 vote, the House Monday passed and sent to the Senate a $3,800,000,000 foreign aid measure chopped more than a billion dollars below President Eisenhower's request.

The showing of "Nos" on the final roll call vote highlighted strong congressional election-year sentiment that the $4,900,000,000

Nebraska's four Republican representatives were on the losing side as the House passed the foreign aid authorization bill. Representatives Chase, Harrison and Weaver voted against the bill and Rep. Miller was paired against the measure.

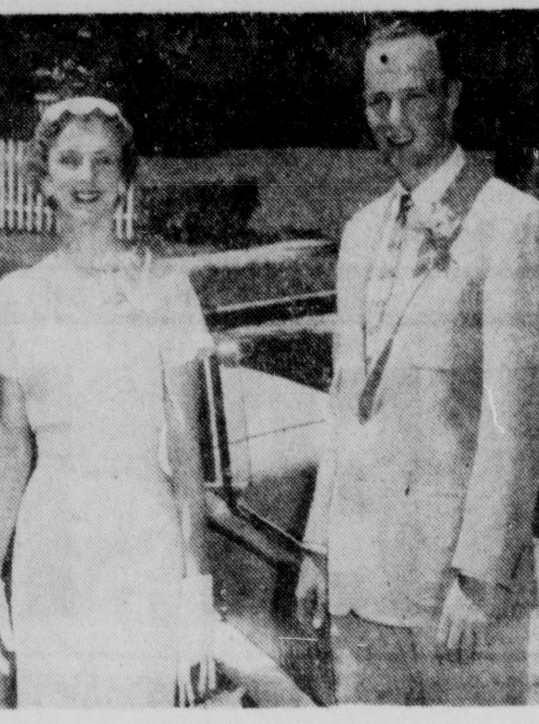

Eisenhower asked for overseas military and economic aid is too much.

The bill faces more controversy in the Senate where the Foreign Relations Committee is slated to start voting on it Wednesday.

Senate Committee Chairman George (D-Ga.) is backing an administration drive to restore part of the funds cut, but some influential senators say the House ax should have gone deeper. As passed by the House, the measure still provides for a program $1,100,000,000 bigger than Congress appropriated for foreign aid last year. The new program is for the 12 months starting July 1.

Conference Planned

The White House — spurred by the House despite appeals by Eisenhower and leaders of both parties for more funds — arranged a bipartisan conference of Senate leaders for later this week.

Commissioning, Graduation, Wedding Make Up One Happy Day

Commencement, a wedding, and an Air Force commissioning combined to make Monday an exceptionally busy day for Joan Knudson of Lincoln and Earl F. Barnette of Holdrege. In the picture at left Joan pins on Earl's new bars after the Air Force Commissioning exercises Monday morning. Then they paused for a moment before going to commencement exercises where Earl received a Bachelor of Science in electrical engineering and Joan a Bachelor of Arts from the College of Arts and Sciences (middle picture). Finally, Monday afternoon they were married at the home of Joan's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Bernard L. Knudson. After that (right picture) the Barnettes left for a honeymoon in New England. Asked why they decided to do everything in one day, Joan explained that her former minister and family friend, the Rev. Thomas Barton of Denver, was planning to be in Lincoln anyway for his daughter Sylvia's graduation. Also it would be convenient for Earl's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Barnette, to make only one trip to Lincoln during the week.

Antarctic East-West Visit Seen

Little America Team Talks To Reds

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Navy said Monday its Antarctic winter base at Little America has established radio contact with the Russian station 1,650 miles across the frozen continent.

As a result of the contact, the Navy said, "visits from American and Russian stations by representative groups have been suggested."

It did not indicate whether arrangements have been made for exchange visits between the two camps.

A Navy announcement said the first contact with the Russian camp—at Mirny on the Knox Coast—was made last month. Since then, it said, there have been several exchanges of weather information.

Best Wishes

The Russians extended their best wishes to Rear Adm. Richard E. Byrd, Rear Adm. George J. Dufek, commander of the Navy's Antarctic operation "Deepfreeze," and Cmdr. Herbert W. Whitney, Little America base commander.

The current winter closed in over Antarctica more than a month ago. The 73 men at Little America and the 93 living 400 miles farther along the Ross Sea Coast, at Williams Air Operating Facility on McMurdo Sound, are enveloped in the black winter night which lasts more than four months.

Rockefeller, Miss Edris Are Married

HAYDEN LAKE, Idaho (AP) — Winthrop Rockefeller, 44, took his second wife Monday with none of the fanfare that surrounded his ill-fated Cinderella marriage to Bobo Rockefeller.

The new bride is Jeanette Edris, 37, daughter of William Edris, a Seattle, Wash., financier. It is her fourth marriage.

A small group of friends and members of her family attended the ceremony at her father's summer home here. After a honeymoon, the couple will live at Rockefeller's Morrilton, Ark., model cattle farm. The bride's attendant was her daughter by a previous marriage, Anne Bartley, of New York.

The wedding was in quiet contrast to the bridegroom's marriage Feb. 14, 1948, to the former Barbara (Bobo) Sears, daughter of a coal miner.

The wedding to Bobo climaxed a Cinderella romance between a grandson of the late Croesus, John D. Rockefeller, and the blonde chamber from a walkup flat on Third Avenue.

Rockefeller and Bobo had a son Sept. 17, 1948, but by 1950 their marriage was crumbling and talk of divorce was in the air.

A bitter financial wrangle ended in 1954 when Bobo accepted a $1/2 million dollar settlement.

She divorced Rockefeller in Nevada Aug. 3, 1954. Rockefeller moved from New York to Arkansas in 1953. Miss Edris previously was married to Bruce Bartley, Donald N. McDonnell, and Nathan Barrager.

Gov. Calls Father 'Guiding Influence'

Gov. Victor Anderson, in a proclamation designating next Sunday as Father's Day, said the nation continues "to look to the father in the home as the strong guiding influence of our young and the moulder of tomorrow's citizens."

Plattsmouth Creek Watershed OK'd

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Agriculture Department announced that work may now go ahead on 13 locally initiated watershed and flood prevention projects in nine states.

Approved previously by state agencies and the department itself, the projects were approved this week by the Senate and House Agriculture Committee.

Included is the Plattsmouth Creek Watershed in Cass County, Nebraska.

Surplus Seen

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (INS) — U. S. budget director Percival F. Brundage predicted that for the first time in years, Uncle Sam will finish the 1956 fiscal year with a surplus.

Brundage told delegates to the southern states accountants conference, meeting at Miami Beach, that the "balanced budget for which President Eisenhower has been striving . . . seems to be assured."

The budget director predicted a surplus of $1.8 billion.

Integration Starts

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — Racial integration began in Louisville public schools without incident.

Approximately a dozen Negroes were among 750 students who attended the first summer session at Du Pont Manual High School.

Integration of Louisville's other public schools — elementary and secondary — begins this fall.

Simple New Test Detects 'Hidden' Heart Attacks

CHICAGO (AP) — A simple new blood test for detecting "hidden" heart attacks was hailed Monday as the most important forward step in diagnosis since the electrocardiograph was introduced early in the century.

Dr. Frank P. Foster of the Lahey Clinic, Boston, described the test—called transaminase determination—at the annual meeting of the American Medical Assn.

The test is designed to detect incidents of heart damage known as myocardial infarction. This occurs when blood supply to a portion of the heart muscle is blocked off by a clot or narrowing of an artery. The affected portion of the heart then dies.

Quick and accurate diagnosis and proper treatment often can mean the difference between life and death.

But heart attack symptoms can be confusing. Many other conditions mimic them.

The electrocardiograph has been the chief tool for showing what has happened, but the heart can play queer tricks. Dr. Foster said electrocardiograph changes may be completely absent or slow to appear. Such changes also may be completely absent or slow to appear. Such changes also may be noted when heart disease is not involved.

The blood test is based on the fact that dying heart muscle cells release the enzyme transaminase into the blood stream. This enzyme is measured photoelectrically.

Describing the test as one of the leading medical advances of the year, he said:

"Transaminase may be the first important diagnostic aid since the introduction of the electrocardiograph."

He listed the other major medical advances as the tranquilizing drugs for mental conditions, advances in the cortisone hormones for treating disease, new concepts in infection and the discovery of two derivatives of the sulfa drugs used in treatment of diabetes.

Stalin Tagged Sex Maniac

PARIS (AP) — Nikita S. Khrushchev, world Communism's boss, was quoted Monday by a French newspaper as labeling Joseph Stalin a sex maniac whose police recruited for him a harem of underage girls.

The newspaper France-Soir, reporting this in a dispatch from Vienna, said Khrushchev also confirmed a suspicion widely held in the West that Stalin killed his second wife.

Khrushchev, first secretary of the Soviet Communist party, was quoted as suggesting Stalin's crimes were so heinous he should be tried posthumously. Stalin died three years ago.

Khrushchev, said France-Soir, reported Stalin assigned his police chief, Lavrenty P. Beria, to recruit a harem of teen-age girls, some of whom disappeared later under mysterious circumstances. Khrushchev is reported to have explained that in his later years Stalin was subject to a sort of erotomania — sex madness — and to have related some "particularly odious details" of sexual cruelty to the girls.

'White House Office' Set Up Near President's Suite At Walter Reed Hospital

Ike's Staff To Use Room

WASHINGTON (AP)—An improvised White House office was set up at Walter Reed Hospital Monday 90 feet from President Eisenhower's room, ready for business as the recuperating President resumes more of his duties.

Press secretary James C. Hagerty said the temporary headquarters will be used increasingly by White House staff members as Eisenhower adds to his work load.

The fairly large room is six doors down the third-floor corridor from the presidential suite.

To White House

It contains two typewriter desks for secretarial work, one hospital telephone, and three telephones connected directly to the executive offices in the White House. There are also two sofas and three or four chairs.

One of the President's higher echelon aids may be installed soon for the duration of the President's stay—possibly close to another two weeks, Hagerty said.

Sherman Adams, the chief assistant to the President, arrived Monday morning with other staff members and armloads of stationery supplies.

'Ward 8'

Adams said the temporary office would be manned continuously to "maintain communications between the White House and Ward 8," the President's suite.

Adams expects to pay daily visits but will not remain at the hospital full-time.

Other White House work goes on three floors below in four rooms taken over by Hagerty's staff and approximately 75 reporters, cameramen, and radio and television technicians.

Camera Ban

WASHINGTON (AP)—The White House requested photographers to refrain from setting up long-lens cameras on the Walter Reed Hospital grounds to snap pictures of President Eisenhower through the window of his room.

"I think the American people would agree," said press secretary James C. Hagerty, "... that the President is entitled to that much consideration."

Hagerty said cameras trained on the President's window would mean that he must keep his shades drawn, depriving him of daylight and the view of the grounds, or would compel him to keep away from the window as he begins to move about more freely.

$1.05 A Day

WASHINGTON (INS)—President Eisenhower is paying $1.05 a day for three meals at Walter Reed Army Hospital, which he is not now getting.

The President is still being fed intravenously with a glucose solution.

Mrs. Eisenhower, who has been with the President constantly since he came to the hospital Friday afternoon, is paying $1.55 a day for her meals at the hospital.

The $1.05 charge for the President is the regular subsistence charge for any Army officer who is a patient at the hospital.

The daily rate for Mrs. Eisenhower is the charge the hospital makes for a civilian.

Regents Ask TV Channel 12 Be Listed Educational

University of Nebraska Regents Monday adopted a resolution asking the Federal Communications Commission to transfer Television Channel 12 to the university and change its designation from commercial to educational.

Channel 12, on which the university's KUON-TV now operates three hours daily, is held in trust by Byron Dunn, Lincoln banker.

It was transferred to him by KOLN-TV when that station moved to Channel 10.

The new petition to the FCC eliminates a reference to Channel 18 contained in the original request, which had asked that the designation of Channel 18 be changed from educational to commercial.

Delays were encountered in the original petition and the revised resolution was designed to speed up action on Channel 12, a university spokesman said.

State President Questions Defense Secretary's Ideas

... On Removal Of Veterinarians

GRAND ISLAND, Neb. (AP)—The president of the Nebraska Veterinary Medical Assn. contends "removal of veterinarians from the Army and Air Force in line with Defense Secretary Wilson's recommendation could very well result in a disastrous food poisoning outbreak striking military personnel."

Dr. W. J. Simic, Beatrice, speaking before the Nebraska association, declared.

"Mr. Wilson evidently has been grossly misinformed about the work of the veterinarians in the Army and Air Force in believing that the limited number of animals in the armed services is the veterinarians' primary responsibility."

Food inspection and sanitation, not care of animals, he said, is the major activity of the military veterinarian.

The association, in its annual summer meeting, adopted a resolution suggesting that Nebraska be considered as a site for a proposed animal research and control laboratory now under study by Congress.

Inquiry Into Big Omaha Firm Fire Stays In Progress

OMAHA (AP)—Investigation of a costly fire at the John W. Strang Corp., Inc., will continue this week, Fire Department chief investigator Dan Mulcahey said.

The spectacular, explosion-marked fire at the firm's equipment and storage shed caused an estimated $300,000 damage.

Capt. Mulcahey said examination so far had disclosed no definite cause. He ruled out arson. The fire apparently started in the northeast corner of the structure near the shed.

Four explosions from compressed air and gas tanks punctuated the fire, which destroyed equipment and the block-long shed. The firm supplies dehydration machinery for construction projects.

FARMERS HAVE THREE CHOICES IN USE OF SWEET CLOVER CROP

There are three ways that second-year sweet clover can be managed to provide forage or seed to meet a farmer's needs, J. C. Swinbank says.

Swinbank, extension agronomist at the University of Nebraska, says the second-year crop can provide two cuttings of hay; one cutting of hay and one cutting of seed or light pasture plus a hay crop.

If two cuttings of hay are desired, first growth should be taken in the pre-bloom stage and at least by the time plants are 24 to 30 inches tall, Swinbank says.

An 8-to-10 inch stubble should be left.

Better Second Crop
Early cutting gives finer stems, more leafy hay and a better second crop, he says.

The second crop may be harvested when the clover is in the bud stage or when first flowers appear.

The same procedure may be followed for a hay and seed crop, except that second growth is allowed to mature for seed.

If pasture is desired, sweet clover may be grazed lightly after it has reached a height of 12 to 18 inches. It should be clipped at that time, leaving a stubble of 8 to 10 inches.

Second growth may be utilized for hay by wilting it at the bud or first bloom stage.

Depends On Weather

Time required for curing will depend on the weather, Swinbank says. To obtain well-cured sweet clover hay without spoilage or serious leaf loss, there must be more favorable curing conditions and careful handling than with other hay crops.

It is usually best to cut in the afternoon and rake with a sulky or side delivery rake when the hay is well wilted and free of moisture, according to Swinbank.

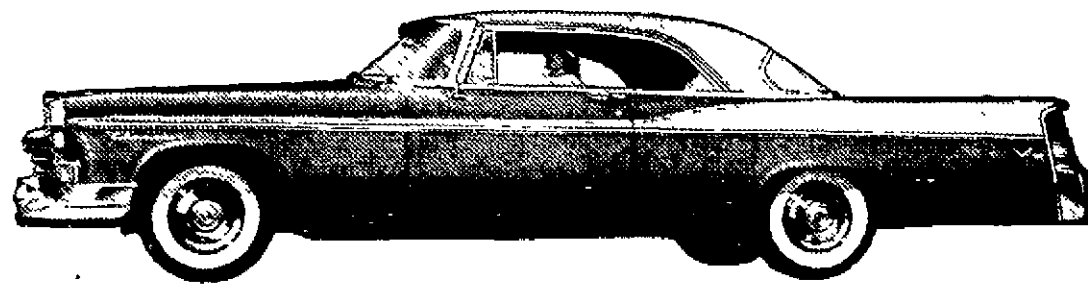

The least spoilage occurs if the hay is allowed to remain in the windrow until well advanced in curing but not so long that heavy leaf loss will occur.

ITCHY SCALP?

NEW SCIENTIFIC FORMULA STOPS DANDRUFF AND ITCHY SCALP

Proved successful in 97.3% of severe cases tested!

The Sebb formula was tested by an eminent dermatologist on extreme dandruff cases who suffered so severely from seborrheic dermatitis that professional help was necessary. These were patients who had eruptions not only on the scalp, but on ears, face, neck, chest and arms. In 97.3% of these cases, Sebb was successful!

Then Sebb was given to men and women with "everyday" dandruff problems—itching scalp, dryness, flaking, scaling, irritation, the constant annoyance of dandruff. These reports speak for themselves.

Mr. Doug Cassell of San Francisco, Cal.: "I had had dandruff for twenty years. After two days of using Sebb, my dandruff disappeared. Sebb has made my hair and scalp look and feel really clean."

Mrs. M. Gonzales of San Francisco, Cal.: "I tried just about everything to stop the itching. Nothing worked until I tried Sebb. After only three applications both dandruff and itching were gone."

SEBB IS SAFE—Non-oily, Non-greasy, no medicinal odor. Sebb is a new combination of drugs never before used to combat dandruff, itchy scalp and seborrheic dermatitis. Its continued use stops the return of dandruff and itchy scalp.

EASY TO USE AS WATER—Just shake it on your scalp right out of the bottle. Then comb your hair and forget it. Sebb is not the least bit oily or greasy, so there's no mess. Sebb has no medicinal odor, just a mild pleasant scent.

MONEY BACK GUARANTEE—When used regularly according to directions, Sebb is guaranteed to stop dandruff and itchy scalp or your money refunded in full when bottle with remaining contents is returned to Pharmaceutical Division, Max Factor Laboratories.

State Farmers Can Get $6 An Acre For Corn, Wheat Ruined By Drought

By RICHARD FELLMAN
Star Staff Writer

A minimum of $6 per acre will be made available to Nebraska farmers for corn or wheat acreage ruined by drought, hail or other calamity this summer, it was learned Monday by the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation local office.

According to local sources, this comes as the result of Agriculture Secretary Ezra Taft Benson's decision to make soil bank payments available to farmers as a measure of relief.

Details of the acreage reserve portion of the soil bank have been received and are now being distributed to county ASC committees, Robert Zink, administrator for the soil bank, said.

Particulars of the conservation part of the soil bank have not been completed, he said, but when finished, compliance will take the form of a contract.

Dates for compliance with the soil bank have been set for June 30 for wheat and August 1 for corn.

He added that all necessary forms for the acreage reserve program are on their way to the county ASC committees.

Within a week, after those concerned have had an opportunity to study the soil bank with a Washington member of the Department of Agriculture, the program will begin operation.

It was explained by the State ASC office in Lincoln that the new order by Benson will have the following effects in Nebraska:

Polio Vaccine Age Limit Is Raised To 19

The polio vaccine age limit goes up to 19 starting Friday, Al Rouse, head of the state polio division, reported Monday.

The increase in the age limit was made by recommendation of the state polio Advisory Committee, which also recommended that booster shots be given this summer to those who already have received their first two shots.

Rouse said the final decision on the booster shots is being left to individual doctors because of varying local conditions.

Nebraska interns, nurses and nurses' aides now also are eligible for shots, because they work close to acute polio cases. Laboratory technicians also are classed in this group.

Rouse said the advisory committee wanted to emphasize that children do not get the benefit of anti-polio shots for several weeks after the shot is administered.

Sheriff Investigating Safe-Cracking Try

An attempted safe-cracking job at the Co-Op Service Station at Firth is being investigated by the Lancaster County Sheriff's office.

The combination was knocked from the safe, but it was not punched and entry was not gained, according to Deputy Bill Johnson.

However, two tires worth $60 were taken, according to Reinhardt Papke, station operator. Entry was gained by cutting a window glass and pulling the lock.

Mr. Sweet Has A Gander

Mr. Sweet was being unkind when he penned this in the Nebraska City News-Press: "Pick out a good spot in Lincoln near the road leading from the air base at about five o'clock every day . . . It is almost as terrifying to see all that traffic as it is in Salina, Kansas, another town depending on artificial stimulation for existence . . . If Lincoln did not have tax money to live on, where would the old town be?"

Well, to answer the $64,000 question, if Lincoln did not have tax money to live on, the old town still would be quite a town by every measure . . . It worries Mr. Sweet that Lincoln is the capital of the state . . . It worries him still more that Lincoln is the site of the University of Nebraska to which come thousands of young men and young women every year . . . or to tell the story, most anything in Lincoln or about Lincoln worries Mr. Sweet.

Fact is, the Nebraska capital has experienced the most gratifying growth in the last 10 years in its history. That growth is to be attributed to an influx of industry providing employment or jobs at good salaries. Lincoln is a city of homes . . . a desirable community in which to live . . . Its business section boasts of many fine attractive buildings . . . Its residential areas will compare favorably with any in the nation . . . There is a lot more back of the Nebraska capital than the taxes to which Mr. Sweet alludes at every opportunity.

Tomorrow's Citizens Today

Lincoln extends a warm welcome to some 300 good young citizens here from throughout Nebraska who opened the activities of the 1956 Boys State Sunday.

The welcome, just as warm and genuine, is extended also to the participants of the Girls State which opens today.

Truly it is a select group which will make the week interesting for themselves and others by application of examples of citizenship. Among the several hundred young people Nebraska will find some of its future leaders. All of them will qualify as lifelong citizens of the highest order.

And it is to be remembered that back of the state-wide group there are many more who likewise manifested their interest and abilities as citizens in the county programs held generally throughout Nebraska several weeks ago.

Nebraska has a great crop of youngsters who are preparing themselves as informed, community active citizens, well schooled in public affairs and the conduct of public institutions. Citizenship is more than a negative right conferred by founding fathers to be taken for granted and used lightly. The complications of the age are reflected in the need for precise knowledge and abiding judgment—necessary if America's democracy continues in the flower that has carried it to the present high point.

There is nothing more reassuring than an ever increasing number of young people who have attached a new and more precise value on citizenship and who take it with real preparation and keen satisfaction.

Off Again, On Again Finnegan

It was but recently that Agriculture Secretary Benson made two significant statements. One was that the soil bank program would not be a device to empty the government's surplus grain bins so that they may be filled up again. The other was to the effect that the program was not to be considered as a drought or disaster relief device.

It was, surprising, therefore, at the outset of the week when a directive from the department instructed protective payments on both wheat and corn in event of hail, drought or other natural damage.

The directive applied only to crop growers who complied with acreage restrictions and its promised relief will be considerably less than earnings that could have been expected from normal production. The lost crop, if plowed up before the deadlines, would be eligible for a minimum of $4 an acre for wheat and $6 an acre for corn, more in some instances where appraisal justifies, but in no case greater than the average normal yield.

Considering a state corn average of 30 bushels to the acre and a soil bank guarantee of 90 cents a bushel the normal working of the soil bank program would return in the neighborhood of $27 for each set-aside acre.

The greatly smaller 1956 allowance emphasizes the modification of the program to a temporary disaster relief program.

Of Men And Things

By J. E. LAWRENCE

Lightening the burdens of the presidency, a man-crushing job in recent years and becoming more and more impossible with the fleeting months, is not the only consideration being given to Big Government. Lost in the news at week's end was a proposal by the Women's Republican Club to lengthen the terms of the members of the House of Representatives from two to four years. That would be a break for the congressmen.

The complaint is that they no sooner are sworn in to take their places on Capitol Hill than they have to race back home to face another election. They could do a much better job, it is claimed, if a representative's term of office was four years instead of two. They would be less subject to pressures. They would be more familiar with the problems that confront them. They would have a measure of independence, of maturity and of experience impossible with each of the 435 members of the House coming up for re-election every two years. But the proposal itself strikes directly at the safeguard which the founding fathers sought to create in fixing the terms of members of the House at two years while decreasing that the 96 members of the Senate should hold office for six years. This was the compromise worked out in the Constitutional Convention to make the House of Representatives truly responsive to popular sentiment with the Senate serving as a check by holding office for six years. Representation in the House was based on population while in the Senate each state was accorded two seats, or two votes, in order to protect the smaller and the less populous states from abuse and injustice at the hands of the larger and more populous commonwealths.

Congress has done pretty well by itself. It upped its pay substantially by $7,500 annually. It voted itself a lush pension system—to which the members of Congress contribute—but nevertheless a cozy pension system. And it also materially added to the prerogatives of the office—mileage, office help, and additional assistance of a highly technical character. Offhand it would seem that Congress has made the job of congressman most attractive financially. By and large, the people now filling the office are doing fairly well by themselves—in instances, much better than they would do in private enterprise.

Much of the burden of the presidency that is purely mechanical could be placed upon other shoulders. The signing of papers, the constant influx of visitors, the daily demands upon the time and energy of the man occupying the office can be lightened, but there is one thing about the presidency concerning which nothing can be done. That is the crushing responsibility of decision. There are not many days in the year when the President of the United States is not called upon to decide. Here recently Mr. Eisenhower vetoed a farm bill. It was passed by a Congress which thought the legislation was in the interest of the nation's farmers. On top of that, Mr. Eisenhower found himself at odds with his Congress over the matter of funds for foreign aid. Forty-eight hours after the President was operated upon for an abdominal ailment, a major operation, Mr. Eisenhower met up with defeat when the House cut more than a billion dollars off his aid bill and again the Chief Executive faces a bruising fight in the Senate. In a true sense, there cannot be a great deal of lessening the burden of decision in the presidency. Neither can we lengthen the term of a member of the House if one of the two branches of the legislative arm of government is to return to the people for a new commission of authority after a reasonable interlude has passed.

We have reached the point, it appears, when we are taking from the people more and more the opportunity to express themselves in terms of government. We have before us at this time far-reaching changes in the functioning of executive and legislative branches.

Ike's Stomach Has Previous History

WASHINGTON—The Republican high command has been doing some worried overhauling of strategy as a result of the President's sudden illness. What the outcome will be is difficult to say. But it's entirely possible that, regardless of the politicians, General Eisenhower will carry out his pledge to re-examine his health and withdraw from the race before the San Francisco convention.

Also important is a move by party strategists to drop Vice-President Nixon. Despite the White House blessing given Nixon last month, some of the top command have not been happy about it, still feel that the vice presidential candidate will be almost as important as the candidate for President.

While it was carefully brushed up in the White House, the President suffered another attack, though not a long one, at a stag dinner in early March, immediately after he announced he would run again.

Attacks of acute indigestion have been troubling Mr. Eisenhower for some time, dating back to 1949 when he had to take three months off as a result of inflammation of the stomach lining. Another attack occurred immediately after he addressed the American Society of Newspaper Editors in April, 1953. He was suffering prior to the dinner, but managed to get through his speech before he was helped off the platform to a side room where he collapsed in a chair.

Unfortunately the public has never been given a clear picture of the President's health. The carefully presented, televised report on his health did not give the whole picture, as Dr. Paul Dudley White virtually admitted afterward in an interview with William McNamara of the Providence (R.I.) Journal.

On the same night that Dr. White made his health report in Washington, another distinguished heart specialist, Dr. Samuel Levine of the Harvard Medical School, publicly differed with him by stating: "Nobody can accurately predict the life span of an individual" heart patient.

When confronted with Dr. Levine's statement in Boston, Dr. White said he agreed that no one could predict the life span of a heart patient. He then pointed out something which the news headlines did not carry and most readers missed—namely, that he had qualified his own "five-to-ten-year" prediction for Eisenhower by inserting such phrases as "uncertainties of the future," "changes," and "should."

This, Dr. White explained to New England newsmen, modified his prediction and put him in complete agreement with Dr. Levine that you could not predict the life span of a heart patient.

"We are both optimists," he told McNamara of the Providence Journal, "and we are quite in agreement." Questioned further, he added "complete agreement."

In other words, Dr. White told the world on television, subject to some little-noticed phrases, that the President "should be able to carry on an active life for another five to ten years." But he told New England newsmen that no one could predict the life span of a heart patient.

Garden Glances With The Moon

A wonderful thing is friendship. No matter where you go: Feeling you have a loyal friend Is a comforting thing to know. Making the days seem brighter, Making life worthwhile— And our burdens and cares seem lighter too, As we tread each weary mile. For it's great to know there's someone Who always has faith in you. With a prayer and a wish for happiness, And an interest in what you do, Someone who trusts you and loves you, On whom you can always depend! The most priceless possession on this earth is A true, good, and trustworthy friend.

Today June's waxing moon is in the fixed, fiery and very barren sign, Leo. Tomorrow at seven minutes after 12 o'clock noon, it will enter the flexed, earthy and dry sign, Virgo. Friday morning near six o'clock second lunar quarter will begin and Friday afternoon a few minutes past four o'clock, still very much on the increase, it will enter the movable, airy, and fruitful sign, Libra. Then Sunday night at eleven o'clock it will enter the fixed, watery and exceedingly fruitful sign, Scorpio. Until Wednesday morning of next week at nine a.m., it will be transiting this fixed and fruitful sign. Just look at the good days approaching, days on which we can catch up with our spring planting before the first day of summer arrives June 21.

I don't know about you but only the other day when June's moon was in the watery and fruitful sign, Cancer, did we get seeds of tender herbs planted. You probably got all of this done back in May, but I happened to be conventioning down in Missouri at that particular time. Ours may not ever grow so tall as yours but they will grow like fury to catch up and bloom to set seed, for such is the way of nature. June, the month of brides and roses. Was ever a June more lush? And the roses in Lincoln, wonderfully fine in color, quantity, quality and fragrance. No other flower gives us so much beauty of bloom in the Midwest prairies as the rose. Just take a leisurely drive along Lincoln's residential streets and see for yourself.

Have you a partially shady spot that can use an ever-blooming rose bush? Then do plant the rugosa rose, "F. J. Grootendorst" (1918), a bright red rose having fringed blooms resembling carnations in clusters; or its sport, "Pink Grootendorst" (1923). Both of these rugosa roses are very vigorous and profuse bloomers in our climate.

For spectacular color harmony, plant clematis, "Ramona," near "Paul's Scarlet" climber. "Ramona" is the enormous blue-flowered clematis one sees around town just now on mailbox, fence or trellis. And purple Spuria iris. Roses and Spuria iris enjoy full sun, but clematis likes some afternoon shade and always does best when their lower branches are well protected from hot summer sun. You can do this with limestone rock, bricks, or even with shingles stuck in the soil at the base of the vine.

"Paul's Scarlet" climber roses at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd T. Vance, 3946 Everett . . . enjoying the abundance of beauty are Mrs. D. F. Butt of Eagle and Mr. Vance's favorite hunting companion, 15-year-old "Benno" . . .

Our picture today features a hunk chain fence along 40th Street simply resplendent with "Paul's Scarlet" climber roses. This is at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd T. Vance, 3946 Everett. Seen in the background are Mrs. D. F. Butt of Eagle, a friend of the Vances, and a veteran member of the family, "Benno."

"Paul's Scarlet" climber was originated by W. W. Paul of Waltham Cross, Hertis, England, and introduced in 1916. It is a seedling of "Paul's Carmine Pillar" x "So-leit d'Or." It long ago surpassed its parent climber in popularity because of beauty, fragrance, bountiful bloom and dependability in our North American climate.

One can still plant roses this week and next. Ask your favorite nurseryman. Let's keep Nebraska beautiful. So until another day—

DORIS FLEASON

Shoemaker Should Stick To His Last

WASHINGTON—When President Eisenhower's doctors pronounce his operation a success and describe him as being in excellent condition, they are speaking as experts and the free world rightly rejoices over their good news.

When they go on from that point, as they have both now and after his heart attack, to suggest that he can run again for the presidency they have ceased to be experts and are just people. All that they prove then is that a President collects around him doctors, as well as aides, who want him to be President.

Today's headlines link the opinion (medical) that the President is fine with the opinion (political) that he can run again. The public gets the impression that it is listening to experts. It is true only of the first half, for in both instances the President's doctors are speaking.

The political question raised by the President's second major illness is whether a man, 65, having the same set of arteries which led to the heart attack with his long convalescence plus a major operation requiring another five or six weeks of rest should run for another four years in the most demanding job in the world.

This question has not been properly and widely discussed. The Republican political leadership has attempted to convey the idea that it was somehow unkind, wholly partisan and utterly unnecessary even to raise it.

The President's doctors have gone even further. They indicate now as before that somehow, in some way not clear to laymen, the President is better than he was. The fact that the American people have not altogether swallowed this assumption is proved by the flood of "heart disease is good for you" jokes that are going around the country.

The truth is that the President has been retired to the sidelines during long and critical periods and will be again. To cite only a few of the current gaps in White House leadership that will now occur, there are the visits of Chancellor Adenauer of Germany with crucial internal problems to discuss and of Canadian Foreign Minister Lester Pearson with plans to re-vamp NATO. The foreign aid bill is in trouble which gets worse, not better, by the day.

Republicans think they cannot win the election this fall without Eisenhower. They will not give leadership in the present discussion any more than Democrats did in 1944 when Franklin Roosevelt ran for a fourth term.

MARQUIS CHILDS

Question Of Second Term Is Up Again

WASHINGTON—Not the least of the unhappy consequences of President Eisenhower's second serious illness in less than nine months is that it has revived the will-he-or-won't-he, should-he-or-shouldn't-he debate. This tends to mute or obscure discussion of vital problems at home and abroad, putting all the stress on the personality and the physique of one individual.

Since only the President can decide whether the second illness has altered his previous decision to seek a second term and with only two months before the nominating conventions, the pressure on him will be strong for an early response. In the view of the associates closest to him, this will almost certainly be in the affirmative.

While the will-he-or-won't-he guessing contest was on following the September heart attack, rumors were current in Washington that members of the President's family strongly opposed his risking his health in another four years in the most difficult and demanding office in the world. Specifically, a report persisted that the President's son, Major John Eisenhower, had put his objections in the form of a letter to his father. Asked about these reports, the President said his family had been perfectly willing to leave the decision to him.

But the President in early January supplied perhaps the best reason why he should not run for another term. Shortly before he ended a vacation at Key West, Florida, he met with reporters for the first time in five months and told them that his mind had not been made up to the extent that it could not be changed. He cited the "critical," the "rather startling" and "unfortunate effects" of a change in the presidency in mid-term. He gave as an example the "disturbance" in the stock market at the time of his heart attack. Those who heard him believed he was arguing against seeking another term.

The Republicans who led the chorus in appealing for a second term regardless of the September heart attack will repeat that performance. From Leonard Hall on down, top Republicans have based their entire campaign on the Eisenhower personality—on the President's persuasiveness, his smile, his charm, the good will that he radiates when he goes before rallies of Republicans or the Citizens For Eisenhower who met here recently.

A decision by the President to retire would throw his party into the most painful confusion. A bitter struggle for the nomination would follow. The most likely candidate is Vice President Richard M. Nixon whose popularity in the party, omitting certain strongly anti-Nixon factions in his own California, is undeniable.

Nixon is far better known than any Republican on the national horizon, but the polls have shown him running behind Adlai Stevenson, the Democratic front runner. The health issue will now inevitably come to the fore. Even though it is not directly exploited by the opposition, and Democrats have shown a tendency in recent weeks to avoid direct reference to it, concern over the President's well-being will be uppermost in the public consciousness.

The Short Ballot

Lincoln, Neb.

To the editor of The Lincoln Star: Douglas County went on record as favoring a short ballot, with the election only of governor, lieutenant governor and auditor of public accounts. The voters should turn down any such proposal that would give the governor power to build up a political machine that we couldn't all own. We are losing good government by that method. Our government has too much politics and not enough business thought.

WALT

City-County Building

Lincoln, Neb.

To the editor of The Lincoln Star: As former Lancaster County attorney and having served in the city legal department, I am, as are most citizens, all too well aware of the acute inadequacy of the housing facilities now provided at the Courthouse and City Hall for the public's service and its employees.

Many logical arguments have been advanced certifying to the need for a new county courthouse and there is little need to re-hash such arguments, but most of them are equally applicable to our City Hall. These buildings have served their original purpose and our original requirements well, but they are antiquated, inadequate and need replacement.

While age alone does not necessarily warrant or require condemnation of a building, nevertheless when the many inadequacies of both our county Courthouse and City Hall are considered and when added to that one considers the convenience of the public and the increased efficiency and savings in administration that are bound to result from a city-county building, it is felt that a favorable vote such planning and proposed future program is warranted.

Consolidation of buildings and of certain city and county activities is feasible, sensible, and should be accomplished as quickly as possible.

Granted that we should be cautious when we approve anything that will add in any degree to our tax burden, nevertheless, all things considered, I personally feel an expenditure for this proposed civic improvement to be in order and justified at this time, particularly when the improvement has been so sorely needed for so long.

Admittedly and understandably so, taxes are burdensome but necessary in our American way of life and form of government. As a taxpayer I shall vote for improvement and progress.

Our state capital building is an outstanding architectural accomplishment. It is a monument to our citizens and state and our pride in that beautiful building is certainly justifiable. To the right of its entrance carved in stone is this thought: "Honour To Citizens Who Build An House of State Where Men Live Well."

A half a loaf is better than no bread, albeit Nebraskans best hope for something like a satisfactory crop year depends as much as ever on normal production. But one is struck by the ever growing tendency of the Benson regime to conduct a farm program of expedients at the expense of remedial principles of a constructive long range basis.

Day Of Heli Hopping

People who hold conventions are always enthusiastic over the causes they represent. The helicopter people are the latest to qualify. They went so far as to settle on San Remo, Italy, for their recent international meeting. They chose the town because it is next to impossible to reach it by road in its mountain fastness. The delegates arrived in helicopters.

This is encouraging news to cities everywhere whose remoteness or inaccessibility have rated them low on the convention list. They can throw up a few more barriers and become ideal spots for the future's airborne generations—convention bound.

But probably the most stirring news from the San Remo meeting was reports of the rapid development of helicopter transportation. The day is not too far off when big city commuting and small town inter-community travel will be by heli-hopping—completing the final link of air travel, the convenient short haul. Perhaps it will be the best answer to the nation's ever-mounting problem of highway safety, and perhaps also a partial answer to the nation's ever growing problem of building bigger and better and costlier highways.

A Question Of Who

In this country's wistfulness for peace and good neighboring it is easy to read reform in the denunciations of the late Dictator Stalin as put forth by Nikita Khrushchev. In his latest outburst Khrushchev denounced his predecessor for execution of unguilty Communists and he deplored the cruelty and ruthlessness with which anyone of the party was disposed of just because Stalin held him suspect or didn't want him around.

But on closer examination there was little of the element of reform in the words of Khrushchev. He did not disavow terrorism or any of the cruelties employed by Stalin. All he said was that Stalin used them on the wrong people. So when it is all added up the only distinction seems to be a difference of opinion between two professional liquidators on who should be liquidated. The general practice emerged unscathed. The world could have been more encouraged if the present Russian regime had made a public vow to give up terrorism in all its forms.

But it's entirely possible that, regardless of the politicians, General Eisenhower will carry out his pledge to re-examine his health and withdraw from the race before the San Francisco convention.

Also important is a move by party strategists to drop Vice President Nixon. Despite the White House blessing given Nixon last month, some of the top command have not been happy about it, still feel that the vice presidential candidate will be almost as important as the candidate for President.

While it was carefully hushed up in the White House, the President suffered another attack, though not a long one, at a stag dinner in early March, immediately after he announced he would run again.

Attacks of acute indigestion have been troubling Mr. Eisenhower for some time, dating back to 1949 when he had to take three months off as a result of inflammation of the stomach lining. Another attack occurred immediately after he addressed the American Society of Newspaper Editors in April, 1953. He was suffering prior to the dinner, but managed to get through his speech before he was helped off the platform to a side room where he collapsed in a chair.

Televised Health Report

Unfortunately the public has never been given a clear picture of the President's health. The carefully presented, televised report on his health did not give the whole picture, as Dr. Paul Dudley White virtually admitted afterward in an interview with William McNamara of the Providence (R.I.) Journal.

On the same night that Dr. White made his health report in Washington, another distinguished heart specialist, Dr. Samuel Levine of the Harvard Medical School, publicly differed with him by stating: "Nobody can accurately predict the life span of an individual" heart patient.

When confronted with Dr. Levine's statement in Boston, Dr. White said he agreed that no one could predict the life span of a heart patient. He then pointed out something which the news headlines did not carry and most readers missed—namely, that he had qualified his own "five-to-ten-year" prediction for Eisenhower by inserting such phrases as "uncertainties of the future," "changes," and "should."

This, Dr. White explained to New England newsmen, modified his prediction and put him in complete agreement with Dr. Levine that you could not predict the life span of a heart patient.

"We are both optimists," he told McNamara of the Providence Journal, "and we are quite in agreement." Questioned further, he added "complete agreement."

In other words, Dr. White told the world on television, subject to some little-noticed phrases, that the President "should be able to carry on an active life for another five to ten years." But he told New England newsmen that no one could predict the life span of a heart patient.

DORIS FLEENOR

Shoemaker Should Stick To His Last

WASHINGTON — When President Eisenhower's doctors pronounce his operation a success and describe him as being in excellent condition, they are speaking as experts and the free world rightly rejoices over their good news.

When they go on from that point, as they have both now and after his heart attack, to suggest that he can run again for the presidency they have ceased to be experts and are just people. All that they prove then is that a President collects around him doctors, as well as aides, who want him to be President.

Today's headlines link the opinion (medical) that the President is fine with the opinion (political) that he can run again. The public gets the impression that it is listening to experts. It is true only of the first half, for in both instances the President's doctors are speaking.

The political question raised by the President's second major illness is whether a man, 65, having the same set of arteries which led to the heart attack with its long convalescence plus a major operation requiring another five or six weeks of rest should run for another four years in the most demanding job in the world.

This question has not been properly and widely discussed. The Republican political leadership has attempted to convey the idea that it was somehow unkind, wholly partisan and utterly unnecessary even to raise it.

The President's doctors have gone even further. They indicate now as before that somehow, in some way not clear to laymen, the President is better than he was. The fact that the American people have not altogether swallowed this assumption is proved by the flood of "heart disease is good for you" jokes that are going around the country.

The truth is that the President has been retired to the sidelines during long and critical periods and will be again. To cite only a few of the current gaps in White House leadership that will now occur, there are the visits of Chancellor Adenauer of Germany with crucial internal problems to discuss and of Canadian Foreign Minister Lester Pearson with plans to re-vamp NATO. The foreign aid bill is in trouble which gets worse, not better, by the day.

Republicans think they cannot win the election this fall without Eisenhower. They will not give leadership in the present discussion any more than Democrats did in 1944 when Franklin Roosevelt ran for a fourth term.

(Copyright, 1956, by UF Syndicate, Inc.)

While the will-he-or-won't-he guessing contest was on following the September heart attack, rumors were current in Washington that members of the President's family strongly opposed his risking his health in another four years in the most difficult and demanding office in the world. Specifically, a report persisted that the President's son, Major John Eisenhower, had put his objections in the form of a letter to his father. Asked about these reports, the President said his family had been perfectly willing to leave the decision to him.

But the President in early January supplied perhaps the best reason why he should not run for another term. Shortly before he ended a vacation at Key West, Florida, he met with reporters for the first time in five months and told them that his mind had not been erly and widely discussed. The Republican political leadership has attempted to convey the idea that it was somehow unkind, wholly partisan and utterly unnecessary even to raise it.

The President's doctors have gone even further. They indicate now as before that somehow, in some way not clear to laymen, the President is better than he was. made up to the extent that it could not be changed. He cited the "critical," the "rather startling" and "untoward effects" of a change in the presidency in mid-term. He gave as an example the "disturbance" in the stock market at the time of his heart attack. Those who heard him believed he was arguing against seeking another term.

The Republicans who led the chorus in appealing for a second term regardless of the September heart attack will repeat that performance. From Leonard Hall on down, top Republicans have based their entire campaign on the Eisenhower personality—on the President's persuasiveness, his smile, his charm, the good will that he radiates when he goes before rallies of Republicans or the Citizens For Eisenhower who met here recently.

A decision by the President to retire would throw his party into the most painful confusion. A bitter struggle for the nomination would follow. The most likely candidate is Vice President Richard M. Nixon whose popularity in the party, omitting certain strongly anti-Nixon factions in his own California, is undeniable.

Nixon is far better known than any Republican on the national horizon, but the polls have shown him running behind Adlai Stevenson, the Democratic front runner. The health issue will now inevitably come to the fore. Even though it is not directly exploited by the opposition, and Democrats have shown a tendency in recent weeks to avoid direct reference to it, concern over the President's well-being will be uppermost in the public consciousness.

Garden Glances With The Moon

A wonderful thing is friendship.
No matter where you go:
Feeling you have a loyal friend
Is a comforting thing to know.
Making the days seem brighter,
Making life worthwhile—
And our burdens and cares seem lighter far,
As we trudge each weary mile.
For it's great to know there's someone
Who always has faith in you,
With a prayer and a wish for happiness,
And an interest in what you do.
Someone who trusts you and loves you,
On whom you can always depend:
The most priceless possession on this earth is
A true, good, and trustworthy friend.

Today June's waxing moon is in the fixed, fiery and very barren sign, Leo. Tomorrow at seven minutes after 12 o'clock noon, it will enter the flexed, earthy and dry sign, Virgo. Friday morning near six o'clock second lunar quarter will begin and Friday afternoon a few minutes past four o'clock, still very much on the increase, it will enter the movable, airy, and fruitful sign, Libra.

Then Sunday night at eleven o'clock it will enter the fixed, watery and exceedingly fruitful sign, Scorpio. Until Wednesday morning of next week at nine a.m., it will be transiting this fixed and fruitful sign. Just look at the good days approaching, days on which we can catch up with our spring planting before the first day of summer arrives June 21.

I don't know about you but only the other day when June's moon was in the watery and fruitful sign, Cancer, did we get seeds of tender herbs planted. Admittedly and understandably so, taxes are burdensome but necessary in our American way of life and form of government. As a taxpayer I shall vote for improvement and progress.

Our state capitol building is an outstanding architectural accomplishment. It is a monument to our citizens and state and our pride in that beautiful building is certainly justifiable. To the right of its entrance carved in stone is this thought: "Honour To Citizens Who Build An House of State Where Men Live Well."

City-County Building
Lincoln, Neb.
To the editor of The Lincoln Star: As former Lancaster County attorney and having served in the city legal department, I am, as are most citizens, all too well aware of the acute inadequacy of the housing facilities now provided at the Courthouse and City Hall for the public's service and its employees.

Many logical arguments have been advanced certifying to the need for a new county courthouse and there is little need to re-hash such arguments, but most of them are equally applicable to our City Hall. These buildings have served their original purpose and our original requirements well, but they are antiquated, inadequate and need replacement.

While age alone does not necessarily warrant or require condemnation of a building, nevertheless when the many inadequacies of both our county Courthouse and City Hall are considered and when added to that one considers the convenience of the public and the increased efficiency and savings in administration that are bound to result from a city-county building, it is felt that a favorable vote such planning and proposed future program is warranted.

Consolidation of buildings and of certain city and county activities is feasible, sensible and should be accomplished as quickly as possible. Granted that we should be cautious when we approve anything that will add in any degree to our tax burden, nevertheless, all things considered, I personally feel an ex-set seed, for such is the way of nature. June, the month of brides and roses. Was ever a June more lush? And the roses in Lincoln, wonderfully fine in color, quantity, quality and fragrance. No other flower gives us so much beauty of bloom in the Midwest prairies as the rose. Just take a leisurely drive along Lincoln's residential streets and see for yourself.

Have you a partially shady spot that can use an ever-blooming rose bush? Then do plant the rugosa rose, "F. J. Grootendorst" (1918), a bright red rose having fringed blooms resembling carnations in clusters; or its sport, "Pink Grootendorst" (1923). Both of these rugosa roses are very vigorous and profuse bloomers in our climate.

For spectacular color harmony, plant clematis, "Ramona," near "Paul's Scarlet" climber. "Ramona" is the enormous blue-flowered clematis one sees around town just now on mailbox, fence or trellis. And purple Spuria iris. Roses and Spuria iris enjoy full sun, but clematis likes some afternoon shade and always does best when their lower branches are well protected from hot summer sun. You can do this with limestone rock, bricks, or even with shingles stuck in the soil at the base of the vine.

Our picture today features a link chain fence along 40th Street simply resplendent with "Paul's Scarlet" climber roses. This is at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd T. Vance, 3946 Everett. Seen in the background are Mrs. D. F. Butt of Eagle, a friend of the Vances, and a veteran member of the family, "Beno."

"Paul's Scarlet" climber was originated by W. W. Paul of Waltham Cross, Herts, England, and introduced in 1916. It is a seedling of "Paul's Carmine Pillar" x "So-leil d'Or." It long ago surpassed its parent climber in popularity because of beauty, fragrance, bountiful bloom and dependability in our North American climate.

One can still plant roses this week and next. Ask your favorite nurseryman. Let's keep Nebraska beautiful. So until another day—average taxpayer doing the paying. Why should a pet project of the few become a general obligation of all the taxpayers?

At this time, the county Courthouse is good enough for me; in fact, it's even better than I can really afford. It has the best passenger elevator in town and usually plenty of parking, which can be improved with off-street parking stalls. As soon as K Street is widened and improved, and 9th and 10th Streets become one-way thoroughfares, its accessibility as a publicly owned block and now without any cost to taxpayers, except very reasonable operational costs, marks it the ideal location. At least it's the best location for the price, which is nothing, until some new money not taxpayers' money offers to donate a better location.

Who or what is blocking construction of a new county jail? This jail does not need to be tied up with the 15th Street set-up—or does it? Should a jail house be located on such high-price real estate?

These Racing Years

Lightening the burdens of the presidency, a man-crushing job in recent years and becoming more and more impossible with the fleeting months, is not the only consideration being given to Big Government. Lost in the news at week's end was a proposal by the Women's Republican Club to lengthen the terms of the members of the House of Representatives from two to four years. That would be a break for the congressmen.

The complaint is that they no sooner are sworn in to take their places on Capitol Hill than they have to race back home to face another election. They could do a much better job, it is claimed, if a representative's term of office was four years instead of two. They would be less subject to pressures. They would be more familiar with the problems that confront them. They would have a measure of independence, of maturity and of experience impossible with each of the 435 members of the House coming up for re-election every two years. But the proposal itself strikes directly at the safeguard which the founding fathers sought to create in fixing the terms of members of the House at two years while decreeing that the 96 members of the Senate should hold office for six years. This was the compromise worked out in the Constitutional Convention to make the House of Representatives truly responsive to popular sentiment with the Senate serving as a check by holding office for six years. Representation in the House was based on population while in the Senate each state was accorded two seats, or two votes, in order to protect the smaller and the less populous states from abuse and injustice at the hands of the larger and more populous commonwealths.

Congress has done pretty well by itself. It upped its pay substantially by $7,500 annually. It voted itself a lush pension system—but nevertheless a cozy pension system. And it also materially added to the prerogatives of the office—mileage, office help, and additional assistance of a highly technical character. Offhand it would seem that Congress has made the job of congressman most attractive financially. By and large, the people now filling the office are doing fairly well by themselves—in instances, much better than they would do in private enterprise.

Much of the burden of the presidency that is purely mechanical could be placed upon other shoulders. The signing of papers, the constant influx of visitors, the daily demands upon the time and energy of the man occupying the office can be lightened, but there is one thing about the presidency concerning which nothing can be done. That is the crushing responsibility of decision. There are not many days in the year when the President of the United States is not called upon to decide. Here recently Mr. Eisenhower vetoed a farm bill. It was passed by a Congress which thought the legislation was in the interest of the nation's farmers. On top of that, Mr. Eisenhower found himself at outs with his Congress over the matter of funds for foreign aid. Forty-eight hours after the President was operated upon for an abdominal ailment, a major operation, Mr. Eisenhower met up with defeat when the House cut more than a billion dollars off his aid bill and again the Chief Executive faces a bruising fight in the Senate. In a true sense, there cannot be a great deal of lessening the burden of decision in the presidency. Neither can we lengthen the term of a member of the House if one of the two branches of the legislative arm of government is to return to the people for a new commission of authority after a reasonable interlude has passed.

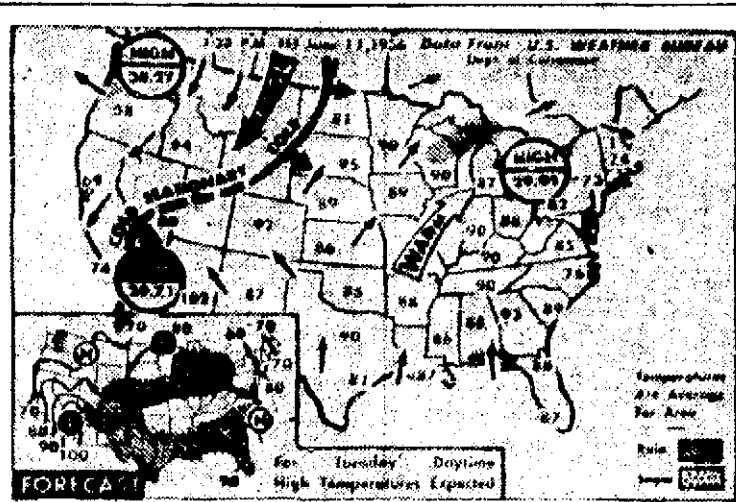

Democracy Has Its Needs

We have reached the point, it appears, when we are taking from the people more and more the opportunity to express themselves in terms of government. We have before us at this time far-reaching changes in the functioning of executive and legislative branches.

State's June Wheat Estimate Trimmed

Forecast Cut To 20 Bushels

The Agriculture Department Monday cut Nebraska's 1956 wheat outlook to 65,540,000 bushels. That compared with the 72,064,000 bushel forecast a month ago and one of 66,348,000 in April. Monday's forecast, which reflects the condition of the crop as of June 1, was equivalent to a yield of 20 bushels an acre—two bushels less than a month ago. In Lincoln, crop experts explained that deterioration in the crop in eastern and central Nebraska had caused the forecast to be trimmed 6½ million bushels in a month. "A year ago," State - Federal Crops Statistician Kenneth Logan said, "the rain came in the middle of May. This year it was the last of May, not in time to do too much good."

Central Plains Expecting Rain

Rain is forecast Tuesday in the Lakes region, central Mississippi Valley, central Plains, in the deep South from the Atlantic to Arizona and in the Cascades. It will be warmer in the northeast and cooler in the northern Plains. (AP Wirephoto Map.)

Weather Ahead

Extended forecast for Nebraska: Temperatures through Saturday will average 5 to 8 degrees above normal. Normal maximum near 83, normal minimum 54. West to 60 east. Cooler Tuesday and Tuesday night but warmer by Thursday. Cooler again by Saturday. Precipitation generally light, averaging 10 to 30 of an inch. Showers Tuesday and Friday or Saturday.

duced last year and 273,912,000 for the 10-year average.

The Agriculture Department reported that national crop prospects on June 1 were the lowest in 11 years due to a combination of drought conditions in some areas and unusually cool growing weather.

Should these prospects be reflected at harvest, total production would be down about 12 percent from last year's near record volume. Such a reduction would help relieve some of the crop surplus problems now facing farmers.

Kehler Draws Prison Term For Robbery

INDIANOLA, Iowa — James Thomas Kehler, 351 Chicago, pleaded guilty Monday to a charge of robbing the Milo, Iowa, bank office of $1,400 last Tuesday. He was sentenced in District Court to 25 years in Fort Madison State Penitentiary.

Kehler earlier had signed a statement admitting the holdup, Sheriff C. J. Richards said.

Kehler was arrested Sunday morning near Hartington, Neb., by Nebraska State Safety Patrolman Leroy Rodtwalker. Authorities said he was driving an auto stolen from a used car lot near Dallas, Iowa.

In a joint announcement by Sheriff Richards, the Iowa Bureau of Criminal Investigation and an FBI agent, authorities said Kehler was identified from photographs as the bank robber and had signed a statement admitting the holdup.

Kehler Usarmed
Officers said Kehler entered the Milo branch of the People's Trust and Savings Bank of Indianola and pulled a sawed-off shotgun on the only employee in the office. He fled in a car which later was found abandoned near Melcher in the vicinity of Dallas.

Kehler was unarmed when arrested by the Nebraska patrolman. The pickup was made on the basis of an Iowa police radio broadcast. He was returned here from Hartington Sunday by Sheriff Richards and an Iowa state agent.

Quisenberry Will Succeed Moseman In Key U.S. Ag Department Position

A former Nebraskan has succeeded another Nebraskan in a key position in the U.S. Department of Agriculture in Washington, D. C.

Dr. Karl S. Quisenberry has been named to succeed Dr. A. H. Moseman as director of crops research in the Department's Agricultural Research Service, effective July 1. Dr. Moseman, who has directed USDA crop research since 1953, is resigning from government service to accept a position with the Rockefeller Foundation as associate director for agricultural programs.

Dr. Quisenberry has served as assistant to Dr. Moseman for the past five years. The former was stationed at the University of Nebraska from 1936 to 1946 where he was in charge of USDA's regional small grain work. Dr. Moseman, a native of Nebraska and a graduate of the University of Nebraska, began his career with the Department in 1938. In his new position with the Rockefeller Foundation, he will be stationed in New York City. His responsibilities will include handling of the Foundation grants to institutions in the United States for fund-

State's June Wheat Estimate Trimmed

Forecast Cut To 20 Bushels

By the Associated Press
The Agriculture Department Monday cut Nebraska's 1956 wheat outlook to 66,540,000 bushels. That compared with the 72,094,000 bushel forecast a month ago and one of 66,348,000 in April.

Monday's forecast, which reflects the condition of the crop as of June 1, was equivalent to a yield of 20 bushels an acre—two bushels less than a month ago.

In Lincoln, crop experts explained that deterioration in the crop in eastern and central Nebraska had caused the forecast to be trimmed 6½ million bushels in a month.

"A year ago," State - Federal Crops Statistician Kenneth Logan said, "the rain came in the middle of May. This year it was the last of May, not in time to do too much good."

Shorter Heads.
Because of the moisture shortage, there are few stalks per grain head, he explained. Heads are shorter and not as well filled.

However, he added: "The wheat is still good in the Panhandle."

A year ago Nebraska produced more than 78 million bushels of wheat and the 1945 through 1954 average was even higher—nearly 79½ million bushels.

Meanwhile, the Agriculture Department forecast this year's government - restricted national wheat crop at 922,672,000 bushels.

This is the first estimate for the full crop and compares with 938,159,000 produced last year and 1,146,547,000 for the 10-year 1945-54 average.

Low Crop Prospects
The national winter wheat crop was forecast at 670,375,000 bushels compared with 681,452,000 indicated a month ago. Production last year was 705,372,000 bushels and the 10-year average 872,635,000.

The forecast for the nation's spring wheat crop—the first of the season—was 252,297,000 bushels compared with 232,787,000 produced last year and 273,912,000 for the 10-year average.

The Agriculture Department reported that national crop prospects on June 1 were the lowest in 11 years due to a combination of drought conditions in some areas and unusually cool growing weather.

Should these prospects be reflected at harvest, total production would be down about 12 percent from last year's near record volume. Such a reduction would help relieve some of the crop surplus problems now facing farmers.

Weather Ahead
Extended forecast for Nebraska: Temperatures through Saturday will average 5 to 8 degrees above normal. Normal maximum near 83, normal minimum 54 west to 60 east. Cooler Tuesday and Tuesday night but warmer by Thursday. Cooler again by Saturday. Precipitation generally light, averaging .10 to .30 of an inch. Showers Tuesday and Friday or Saturday.

Central Plains Expecting Rain
Rain is forecast Tuesday in the Lakes region, central Mississippi Valley, central Plains, in the deep South from the Atlantic to Arizona and in the Cascades. It will be warmer in the northeast and cooler in the northern Plains. (AP Wirephoto Map.)

Kehler Draws Prison Term For Robbery

INDIANOLA, Iowa (P) — James Thomas Kehler, 35, Chicago, pleaded guilty Monday to a charge of robbing the Milo, Iowa, bank office of $1,400 last Tuesday. He was sentenced in District Court to 25 years in Fort Madison State Penitentiary.

Kehler earlier had signed a statement admitting the holdup, Sheriff C. J. Richards said.

Kehler was arrested Sunday morning near Hartington, Neb., by Nebraska State Safety Patrolman Leroy Hotdwalker. Authorities said he was driving an auto stolen from a used car lot near Dallas, Iowa.

In a joint announcement by Sheriff Richards, the Iowa Bureau of Criminal Investigation and an FBI agent, authorities said Kehler was identified from photographs as the bank robber and had signed a statement admitting the holdup.

Kehler Unarmed
Officers said Kehler entered the Milo branch of the People's Trust and Savings Bank of Indianola and pulled a sawed-off shotgun on the only employee in the office. He fled in a car which later was found abandoned near Melcher in the vicinity of Dallas.

Kehler was unarmed when arrested by the Nebraska patrolman. The pickup was made on the basis of an Iowa police radio broadcast. He was returned here from Hartington Sunday by Sheriff Richards and an Iowa state agent.

Quisenberry Will Succeed Moseman In Key U.S. Ag Department Position

A former Nebraskan has succeeded another Nebraskan in a key position in the U.S. Department of Agriculture in Washington, D. C.

Dr. Karl S. Quisenberry has been named to succeed Dr. A. H. Moseman as director of crops research in the Department's Agricultural Research Service, effective July 1. Dr. Moseman, who has directed USDA crop research since 1953, is resigning from government service to accept a position with the Rockefeller Foundation as associate director for agricultural programs.

Dr. Quisenberry has served as assistant to Dr. Moseman for the past five years. The former was stationed at the University of Nebraska from 1936 to 1946 where he was in charge of USDA's regional small grain work. Dr. Moseman, a native of Nebraska and a graduate of the University of Nebraska, began his career with the Department in 1938. In his new position with the Rockefeller Foundation, he will be stationed in New York City. His responsibilities will include handling of the Foundation grants to institutions in the United States for fund-

Prompt Parade Almost Minus Any Reviewers
OMAHA (P) — The parade which highlighted the Veterans of Foreign Wars state encampment was so prompt Monday that reviewers nearly didn't get to their official stand.

It looked for a time as though Mayor John Rosenblatt would be alone in the reviewing stand. But leading cars dropped off VFW, city and county officials in time to allow them to salute the colors.

General MacArthur Chapter 2 of Omaha, Disabled American Veterans, won the first prize with its float of costumed veterans of America's wars.

In the presence of only the members of the immediate families, the marriage of Miss Joan Knudson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bernard L. Knudson, to Earl Franklin Barnette, son of Mr. and Mrs. Earle Barnette of Holdrege, took place on Monday afternoon, June 11, at the home of the bride's parents. The 4 o'clock ceremony was solemnized by the Rev. Thomas A. Barton of Denver before a tress of Huckleberry greenery. The wedding music was played by Miss Carol Thompson of Omaha who also accompanied the vocal soloist, Miss Suzanne Enyeart. Miss Alice Knudson was her sister's maid of honor and only attendant. Her frock of pale blue French cotton was designed in the princess mode, and with it she wore a briefly veiled white half-hat. Her colonial bouquet was fashioned of feathered white carnations, centered with pink roses.

Eudell Jacobsen of Ogallala served Mr. Barnette as best man.

The bride appeared in a gown of Dresden pink linen. A matching satin trim accented the Empire lines of her costume, and she completed her ensemble with a small, white shell hat ornamented with a bow veil. She carried white orchids on a white Bible.

After the reception Mr. Barnette and his bride left for a honeymoon trip through the New England states after which they will go to Camden, N. J., to reside.

More Guests—More News

EVEN A bright June morning, such as this one, is given additional sparkle with news of guests — and we have news of guests — We have just learned that Miss Dorothy Zimmer, one of the shining lights at the N.W. Ayer Advertising Agency in New York City, will be planning in this evening to spend a day or two as the guest of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John F. Zimmer, and her brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. John F. Zimmer, Jr.

THEN we discovered that guests from California already have arrived — Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Franklin of Mojave, Calif., came the past week-end to spend 10 days or two weeks as the guests of their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Black. But we hear that Mr. and Mrs. Black are to have more guests — Mr. Black's parents, Mr. and Mrs. John W. Black of Emerson will be coming later this week to spend the week-end with their son and daughter-in-law.

The family circle will be completed by Mr. and Mrs. Robert Sinn (Pat Black) and their daughter, Susie, who reside in Lincoln.

FROM Wahoo comes news that will interest campus circles generally — and Sigma Nu fraternity in particular — Howard Cooper Hanson, III, arrived on Thursday, June 7. The young Mr. Hanson is the son of Lt. and Mrs. Howard Cooper Hanson, Jr., and his mother is the former Mary Maude Bedford, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Mervin Bedford, and Delta Gamma at the University of Nebraska.

AND WHILE we are on the subject of the very young generation we might mention that the small Miss Courtney Louise Claussen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Claussen, will be the guest of her grandmother, Mrs. L. L. Coryell, Jr., but a few weeks longer. Late this month, or at least by July 1, Mrs. Claussen and her daughter will be going to North Platte to join Mr. Claussen, and to settle down in their new home.

HEAR that Dr. and Mrs. R. J. Pool have returned to their home in Lincoln after spending the past school year at Carbondale, Ill., where Dr. Pool was a visiting professor of botany at Southern Illinois University.

Dr. and Mrs. Pool were happy to be home in time for the commencement ceremonies at the University of Nebraska where Dr. Pool, until his retirement in 1949 was a member of the faculty for 42 years.

WE'VE discussed guests, the bassinet crowd, homecomers—and now it is time for travelers—Understand that Mr. and Mrs. E. Sheldon Hallett are leaving today for San Francisco and the International Kiwanis convention which opens on Sunday.

Leaving on Wednesday evening for San Francisco and the convention will be Mr. and Mrs. Donald Parker and their family who, after leaving San Francisco, plan to spend some time in southern California before returning home.

On Thursday Mr. and Mrs. Leo Hill will take off for San Francisco — and the Kiwanis convention. Mr. and Mrs. Hill will stop over in Sacramento for a day or so en route home.

Candlelight Wedding

MRS. RICHARD LEE GRANT

Guests From Michigan

White gladioli interspersed with blue-tinted carnations formed a fan-shaped arrangement which with lighted candles appointed the chancel of Christ Methodist Church Monday evening, June 11, for the marriage of Miss Bonnie Spichal, daughter of Mrs. James Spichal and the late Mr. Spichal, to Richard Lee Grant, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry E. Grant of Columbus. The 8 o'clock ceremony was solemnized by Dr. Lloyd Watt, and Mrs. Watt, organist, played the wedding music and accompanied Monty McMahon, the vocal soloist.

Mrs. Ollie Spichal Jr. of Council Bluffs, Ia., as her aunt's matron of honor, the bridesmaids, Miss Mary Towne, Lincoln, and Mrs. Charles Tomson of Minden and the junior bridesmaid, Miss Carolyn Sue Grant, sister of the bridegroom, wore alike frocks of horizon blue nylon sheer. Fashioned with tucked basques and narrowly-pleated skirts flaring to dance-length, their ensembles were washed with deeper blue taffeta caught into back draped bows. They carried cascades of white and blue-tinted carnations. Miss Pamela Ayn Spichal, niece of the bride, was the flower girl, and lighting the candles were Miss Beverly Boone and Miss Janice Spichal, also nieces of the bride.

Serving his son as best man was Harry E. Grant of Columbus, and the ushers were James Schultz and Richard Tooley of Columbus, Charles Tomson, Minden, and Donald Dane. The bride's gown of white embroidered tulle over pale blue taffeta was designed in the period mode. Petal appliques traced with tiny pearls bordered the shoulder-wide neckline of the sculptured bodice, and the brief, shirred sleeves were completed by long mitts of the tulle. The very full skirt extended into a chapel train, and her tiered veil of illusion was held to the head by a pillbox of the blue taffeta trimmed with pearls. She carried a white Bible marked with a single white orchid.

Following the reception held in the church parlors, the couple left for Norfolk, Va., where the bridegroom will be stationed as an Ensign with the Navy. A former student at the University of Nebraska, the bride is a member of Alpha Xi Delta. Mr. Grant is a June graduate of the University of Nebraska and a member of Delta Tau Delta.

To Entertain At Picnic

Members of Zeta Chapter of Beta Sigma Phi, young business women's sorority, will entertain at their annual picnic for the children of Whitehall next Saturday. The picnic will begin at 11 o'clock in the morning and will be held at the picnic grounds at Capitol Beach.

In charge of arrangements are Miss Gladys Hablitzel, chairman, assisted by Miss Joan Rustermer, Miss Delores Thies, Mrs. William Hartley, Miss Janice Stone and Mrs. Gene Draper.

Enroute To Boulder

Two very popular guests in Lincoln at the moment are Mrs. Walter Simon and the small Amy who are guests of Dr. Simon's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Simon.

Mrs. Simon and Amy arrived late last week from Boston, where Dr. Simon was a member of the faculty at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, and will be joined in Lincoln early this week by Dr. Simon who is driving from the east coast.

After a several weeks holiday

Held Dinner Members of Xi Beta Chapter of Beta Sigma Phi met for a 7 o'clock dinner Monday evening at the Lincoln Hotel. Following the dinner, the chapter held an initiation service for new members.

Dr. Simon and his family will go to Boulder, Colo., where Dr. Simon will be an assistant professor of history at the University of Colorado.

Voters League State Board

The new board of the League of Women Voters of Nebraska will hold its first official meeting at 10 o'clock Wednesday morning at the Omaha YWCA.

Board members attending from Lincoln will be Miss Martha Fodge, Mrs. Claude Golding, Mrs. Dewey Gruenhagen and Mrs. Roland Mueller.

Other members of the board are Mrs. P. S. Carter, Mrs. Richard C. Hunt, Mrs. A. C. Ragnow, Mrs. M. F. Samples, Mrs. B. H. Stafford and Mrs. Norman W. Whitman, all of Omaha, and Mrs. J. Russell Anderson, Mrs. Lyle B. Gill and Mrs. Derold McCordle of Fremont.

Dr. and Mrs. Pool were happy to be home in time for the commencement ceremonies at the University of Nebraska where Dr. Pool, until his retirement in 1949 was a member of the faculty for 42 years.

WE'VE discussed guests, the basinet crowd, homecomers—and now it is time for travelers—Understand that Mr. and Mrs. E. Sheldon Hallett are leaving today or San Francisco and the International Kiwanis convention which opens on Sunday.

Leaving on Wednesday evening for San Francisco and the convention will be Mr. and Mrs. Donald Parker and their family who, after leaving San Francisco, plan to spend some time in southern California before returning home.

On Thursday Mr. and Mrs. Leo Hill will take off for San Francisco — and the Kiwanis convention. Mr. and Mrs. Hill will stop over in Sacramento for a day or so en route home.

THE STAR IN SUBURBIA

Things are buzzing out in Cotner Terrace Addition this week and especially at the home of Maj. and Mrs. Thane Croston. Their excitement is over their four children and we think you'll agree that they have good reason to feel exceptionally proud when we tell you what the youngsters have done.

Thane, 11, Connie Lynn, nine, Court, seven, and Barbara, five, have been taking dancing lessons at a dance studio and last Saturday they were the main attraction on the "Let's Dance" program on television. It was then that Thane and Connie Lynn discovered that their long hours of practicing had not been in vain, for, as partners, they won the Junior Ballroom Contest. Their mother claims they can do anything from a two-step to a mambo, and, by the way, little Court and Barbara don't cut a bad rug themselves.

The house guests are still coming and going every day. Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Offutt returned to their home in Monet, Mo. on Friday after spending a week with their daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Graesser.

Mr. and Mrs. Hugh McMullen's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Jackson of Scandia, Kan. and Mr. and Mrs. O. E. McMullen of Courtland, arrived last Tuesday to attend the graduation of their granddaughter, Margie, from Northeast High School.

And following the graduation ceremony, a party was held at the McMullen home. A few of the guests present for the occasion were Mr. and Mrs. Harold Parrott, Mr. and Mrs. Alford Lang and their two children, Paul and Margaret, Patricia Vincent, Cobbi Berchard and Robert Price.

Mrs. Frank Logan and Mrs. Harry Becker complimented Mrs. Walt Hanson with an afternoon dessert which they held out in Mrs. Logan's backyard. The guests included Mrs. Keith Larson and Mrs. George Rookel. The ladies brought their children and they played while the women chatted.

Mrs. Hanson and her daughter, Cathy, left today to join Mr.

Hanson at their new home in Phoenix, Ariz.

Guests From Michigan

On Lincoln's guest list for several days will be Mrs. John Folsom and her son, Johnny, who arrived from Muskegon, Mich.,

late last week for a visit with Mrs. Folsom's parents, Dr. and Mrs. Ralph Ludwick; her brother and sister-in-law, Dr. and Mrs. Ralph Ludwick Jr., and Dr. Folsom's mother, Mrs. H. T. Folsom.

During her stay in town Mrs. Folsom will be honored with numerous informal courtesies.

Voters League State Board

The new board of the League of Women Voters of Nebraska will hold its first official meeting at 10 o'clock Wednesday morning at the Omaha YWCA.

Presiding will be Mrs. Roy Marshall of Omaha, state president, who will conduct a planning session for the state organization's projects for the coming year and will assign board positions for the year.

Board members attending from Lincoln will be Miss Martha Fodge, Mrs. Claude Golding, Mrs. Dewey Gruenhagen and Mrs. Roland Mueller.

Other members of the board are Mrs. P. S. Carter, Mrs. Richard C. Hunt, Mrs. A. C. Ragnow, Mrs. M. F. Samples, Mrs. B. H. Stafford and Mrs. Norman W. Whitman, all of Omaha, and Mrs. J. Russell Anderson, Mrs. Lyle B. Gill and Mrs. Derrold McCordle of Fremont.

Enroute To Boulder

Dr. Simon and his family will go to Boulder, Colo., where Dr. Simon will be an assistant professor of history at the University of Colorado.

Two very popular guests in Lincoln at the moment are Mrs. Walter Simon and the small Amy who are guests of Dr. Simon's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Simon.

Mrs. Simon and Amy arrived late last week from Boston, where Dr. Simon was a member of the faculty at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, and will be joined in Lincoln early this week by Dr. Simon who is driving from the east coast.

Candlelight Wedding

MRS. RICHARD LEE GRANT

White gladioli interspersed with blue-tinted carnations formed a fan-shaped arrangement which with lighted candles appointed the chancel of Christ Methodist Church Monday evening, June 11, for the marriage of Miss Bonnie Splichal, daughter of Mrs. James Splichal and the late Mr. Splichal, to Richard Lee Grant, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry E. Grant of Columbus. The 8 o'clock ceremony was solemnized by Dr. Lloyd Watt, and Mrs. Watt, organist, played the wedding music and accompanied Monty McMahon, the vocal soloist.

Mrs. Ollie Splichal Jr. of Council Bluffs, Ia., as her aunt's matron of honor, the bridesmaids, Miss Mary Towne, Lincoln, and Mrs. Charles Tomson of Minden and the junior bridesmaid, Miss Carolyn Sue Grant, sister of the bridegroom, wore alike frocks of horizon blue nylon sheer. Fashioned with tucked basques and narrowly-pleated skirts flaring to danseuse length, their ensembles were sashed with deeper blue taffeta caught into back draped bows. They carried cascades of white and blue-tinted carnations. Miss Pamela Ayn Splichal, niece of the bride, was the flower girl, and lighting the candles were Miss Beverly Boone and Miss Janice Splichal, also nieces of the bride.

Serving his son as best man was Harry E. Grant of Columbus, and the ushers were James Schultz and Richard Tooley of Columbus, Charles Tomson, Minden, and Donald Danek.

The bride's gown of white embroidered tulle over pale blue taffeta was designed in the period mode. Petal appliques traced with tiny pearls bordered the shoulder-wide neckline of the sculptured bodice, and the brief, shirred sleeves were completed by long ruffs of the tulle. The very full skirt extended into a chapel train, and her tiered veil of illusion was held to the head by a pillbox of the blue taffeta trimmed with pearls. She carried a white Bible marked with a single white orchid.

Following the reception held in the church parlors, the couple left for Norfolk, Va., where the bridegroom will be stationed as an Ensign with the Navy. A former student at the University of Nebraska, the bride is a member of Alpha Xi Delta. Mr. Grant is a June graduate of the University of Nebraska and a member of Delta Tau Delta.

To Entertain At Picnic

Members of Zeta Chapter of Beta Sigma Phi, young business women's sorority, will entertain at their annual picnic for the children of Whitehall next Saturday. The picnic will begin at 11 o'clock in the morning and will be held at the picnic grounds at Capitol Beach.

In charge of arrangements are Miss Gladys Hablitzel, chairman, assisted by Miss Joan Rustermer, Miss Delores Thies, Mrs. William Hartley, Miss Janice Stone and Mrs. Gene Draper.

GI, Two Businessmen Plead Guilty In Theft Of Secret Document

Paper Contained List Of AF Bases

NEWARK, N. J. (AP) — An Army sergeant and two East Orange businessmen Monday pleaded guilty to conspiracy charges in the theft of a secret government document.

Asst. U.S. Atty. Gen. William F. Tompkins, has described the paper as "of the utmost intelligence significance" because, he said, it contained a directory of "all the U.S. Air Force bases and organizations throughout the world."

The three, Sydney M. Stern, 39, Seymour S. Hindman, 39, both of East Orange, and Sgt. Harold E. Brill, 28, stationed at the Brooklyn Army Terminal, entered guilty pleas before federal Judge Alfred E. Modarelli.

No date for sentencing was fixed by the court. The maximum penalty on the charges is five years in prison and $10,000 fine.

No Espionage
The three were charged with conspiring to steal and possess a document filed in a federal public building. No espionage charges were involved.

Following their arrest by FBI agents, May 17, attorneys for the men said the document was a mailing list of military personnel intended to be used for business soliciting purposes.

Tompkins, however, said the paper contained information "affecting the national defense of the United States." He added that the document contained information within the meaning of the espionage laws.

Tompkins, who heads the Justice Department's internal security division, said it would be "unfair to draw any inference" that the document, now in government hands, was to be used for espionage.

Mailing List
He added that no names or addresses of military personnel were listed in the paper, and claims that it was a mailing list were "absolutely untrue."

A fourth man, Bryant E. Schreiber, 43, Millburn, was also arrested by FBI men at the same time.

Stern and Hindman are partners in the Distinctive Emblem and Uniform Corp., East Orange, while Schreiber operates a snapshot service, Linden.

Stern and Hindman were continued in $5,000 each and the sergeant in $500 bail.

Schreiber, who was not on the calendar for pleading Monday, was charged with photographing the document at the request of Stern and Hindman.

He visited in Lincoln recently and also visited his parents, Dr. and Mrs. William Paul Barnds, in Ft. Worth, Texas, where Dr. Barnds is rector of Trinity Episcopal Church.

Seven Liquor Licenses Denied By Commission

The State Liquor Commission reported Monday it has denied applications for seven Grand Island package liquor licenses. The city council had recommended denial on all seven.

A commission spokesman said some of the applicants already hold beer licenses and were hopeful of being able to add package liquor to their business.

The applications came in over a period of several weeks.

Applicants were James Beck, Clyde Cople, David Ditter, Edward Ruff, John C. Schneider, D. C. Thompson and Naoma Zachry.

Man Swims Nine Miles To Get Help

KEY WEST, Fla. (AP) — A man battled angry seas during a nine-hour swim Monday to reach shore and bring about the rescue of three other members of his fishing party.

"I almost gave up a couple of times," said Ray Wraymond, 36, who swam for 8½ hours after the charter fishing boat Golden K struck a submerged piling and sank southwest of here.

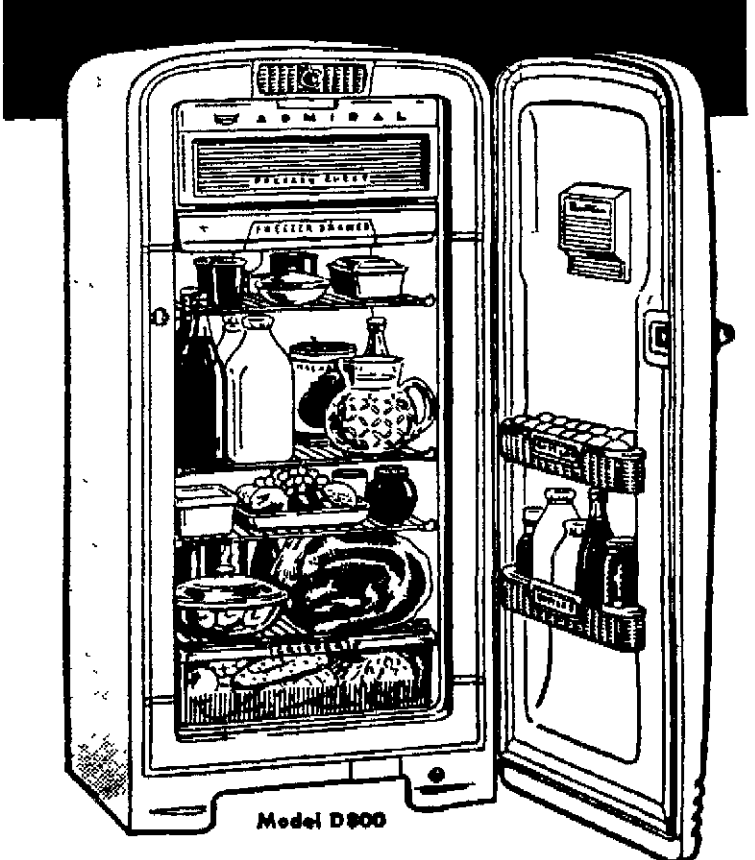

"I was so exhausted, I thought of unfastening my life jacket and just slipping under the water."

After Wraymond reached shore at the Boca Chica Naval Air Station, a Coast Guard boat was dispatched and picked up three others clinging to the wreckage of the Golden K.

Winford Bennett, 39-year-old owner and captain of the Golden K, Dorothy Snell, 35, and Wraymond were hospitalized. Frank Young 37, did not require medical treatment. All are from Marathon, Fla.

Pen Inmate Has Ten Motions On File With Court In 2nd-Degree Arson Case

Penitentiary inmate Clarence Jack Jump now has ten motions on file in Lancaster District Court in connection with his second-degree arson case.

Jump, facing trial on the charge in connection with the Aug. 16 prison riot and fire, added four motions Monday.

One motion asks for immediate trial, contending that the state has had since Aug. 16 to prepare its case and no Penitentiary case has been tried since last February.

The second motion asks the court to subpoena all the defendant's witnesses who may not be available later because of parole or discharge from the prison.

In this connection, Jump claims Warden Joseph Bovey has refused to allow him to interview "defense witnesses."

The third motion asks the court to dismiss the charge or order the county attorney's office to file against Warden Bovey charges of "aiding and abetting" or "accessory before the fact" and "criminal negligence."

Otherwise, Jump claims he "will be used to cover up a stupid political blunder, and the people behind it."

In his motion, Jump alleges that the warden had full knowledge of the crime, had plenty of time to avoid the riot and fire but didn't do anything to stop it.

Jump "denies any knowledge of the crime, except he (Jump) was within the walls of the Penitentiary at the time" and contends he "is being discriminated against by the county attorney's office."

His fourth motion, filed Monday, asks the court "to require the county to supply the defendant with

You'd have to look a long ways to find a more confident young man than Dick Stuart, Lincoln's slugging outfielder who is pounding home runs at an amazing pace.

He has yet to point to the cut-field—a Babe Ruth—and then send a ball into the parking lot, but he has made good on a promise.

During a recent series in Des Moines, Dick was interviewed by a local sports writer about his home run hitting ability. Stuart told him this way:

"We were just chatting and in the course of the conversation, I told him, 'I'll hit one out tonight,'" Dick said. "I didn't think anything about it until I read the paper and saw the headline. 'Stuart Promises to Hit Homer.'"

Boy, the pressure was really on that night, especially since Bill Jackson hit a couple out and I had to follow him. But my last time up (in the ninth) I finally connected."

Incidentally, the promised home run put Stuart ahead of Topeka's Al Weyandt for a few moments. But the Hawk first-sacker also hit one the same night to maintain the tie for first place in the Western League.

Stuart finally moved two ahead of Weyandt Sunday by belting a pair against Pueblo, fulfilling the vow he has made all spring: "I'll catch him and go ahead."

It remains to be seen whether Stuart can keep up the hot pace and win the league home race. But he's a clinch to beat the Lin-

Novak's Long Hit Beats Press, B. H. Becker, 4-3

Is "Bucket-Hips" Becker washed up?

Becker, who long ago lost the battle of the expanding waistline, lost his first game Monday night as the Radio-TV All-Stars beat the Press baseball team, 4-3, at Sherman Field.

Actually, all of the blame for the loss should not go to the bespectacled righthander. His teammates were less than spectacular at the plate and his mound successor, Del Black, was little better than Becker.

The eventual winning run was scored off Black, but Becker left the game with the Press behind 3-2 and took the loss. Last year he pitched the Press to a 6-2 win.

"Bucket-Hips", with a great deal of assistance from Catcher Don Bryant, struggled through the first inning although he yielded a hit and two walks. A hidden-ball play saved a run in that frame.

In the second inning, it happened. The old adage that says "they never come back" was borne out. Pep Sinton singled to right to open the inning. A questionable call by Umpire Ray Hathaway sent Ralph Johnson to first, hit by a Becker fast ball.

Then a heads-up play and slow base-running by the All-Stars gave "Bucket-Hips" a break. Louis Schoen lined a shot through the unlovely legs of Press third sacker Roy Campbell, but left fielder John Kelley recovered the ball and forced the slow-moving Sinton at third.

Becker couldn't capitalize on the break. His second wild pitch of the inning and a walk to pitcher Jim Jackson loaded the bases.

Tom Novak, ex-NU football and baseball star, unloaded them with a triple to right.

That hit gave the Radio-TV group a 3-2 lead. The mike-and-camera club added the eventual winning run in the third on ex-Husker Bob Reynolds' single, a stolen base and two wild pitches by Black, who provided almost the entire Press plate punch, started a three-inning rally when he singled after Kelley had walked.

A passed ball and a wild pitch gave the Press a run and put the winning run on third. But relief

Don (Fat Fox) Bryant, sports editor of The Lincoln Star, puts every ounce of muscle and avoirdupois into his swing. But, alas, there is no joy in pressland, the mighty Fox struck out, ending the last hope of the Press for a victory in their game with the local radio and TV stalwarts. Sports-caster Bill King is shown catching the final pitch of the game, which the radio-TV won 4-3. (Star Photo.)

Bums Win 8-6; Duke Hits 2 Out

ST. LOUIS (AP)—The St. Louis Cardinals kicked two eight-inning doubleplay grounders and a chance to take the National League lead Monday night, giving up three decisive unearned runs to Brooklyn in a game won by the Dodgers 8-6. Duke Snider homered twice for the world champions and Don Newcombe gained his ninth victory.

As a result of successive St. Louis miscues by Don Blasingame and Grady Hatton in the eighth, Brooklyn needed only two hits to score four times and drop the Redbirds into third place behind Pittsburgh. The fifth-place Dodgers are only a length and one-half behind league-leading Cincinnati.

Although Newcombe failed in a bid for his fifth consecutive complete game, allowing 10 hits that included home runs by Wally Moon and Hank Sauer, the Dodgers pinned a fourth straight defeat on Tom Poholsky. The Redbird righthander, victim of faulty support, yielded only five of Brooklyn's eight safeties in the seven-plus frames he pitched.

A crowd of 26,075 saw Snider keep the Dodgers in the ball game and then pull them even with a perfect 3 for 3 performance that included two intentional passes and a run-scoring single as well as his 12th and 13th homers.

In the eighth a walk to Junior Gilliam, Pee Wee Reese's sacrifice and Snider's single knotted the game. Randy Jackson followed with a doubleplay grounder Blasingame missed at shortstop for an error, Snider reaching third. On another potential twin-killing to Hatton, the second baseman threw past Blasingame for a miscue on which Jackson followed Snider across the plate, scoring all the way from first.

At this point Ellis Kinder replaced Poholsky and yielded a run-scoring single to Sandy Amoros before retiring the side.

In the St. Louis ninth one-out singles by Moon, Sauer and pinch-hitter Red Schoendienst loaded the bases and brought Clem Labine from the bullpen to replace Newcombe. Bobby Morgan, pinch-batter, walloped a three-run double, but Labine stopped Blasingame on an infield out and fanned Hatton to end the game.

Cellar-Dwelling Phillies Bewilder Milwaukee, 6-2

MILWAUKEE (AP)—The last-place Philadelphia Phillies scored on singles, doubles and even a double steal Monday night as they trounced Milwaukee 6-2 and dropped the Braves into fifth place in the National League.

The Braves got nine hits, but couldn't lick their most persistent tormentor, Stu Miller, who now has beaten them eight times in 10 decisions as a pitcher for the Cardinals and the Phillies. Miller struck out only one batter, but gave up only two walks.

The loser was Gene Conley, who faced only 12 men in the first four innings before the Phillies solved his pitching in the fifth when they scored three runs on singles by Willie Jones and Jim Greengrass, a double by Gzanzy Hamner, and a single by Ted Kazansky.

Conley, who gave up a total of seven hits, was replaced in the sixth by Ernie Johnson after Stan Lopata doubled and Del Ennis singled. Lopata followed the exchange of pitchers by scoring on a double steal.

The Phillies found the range against Johnson in the seventh, scoring their last two runs on Stu Miller's double, Richie Ashburn's single and Marv Blaylock's single.

With 10 safeties off Conley and Johnson, the Phillies went hitless in the eighth and ninth against Dave Jolly, who also got the lone strikeout for Milwaukee.

Minnesota Trips Mississippi; Cowboys, N. Hampshire Out

OMAHA (AP)—Minnesota ran its NCAA College World Series record to 3-0 Monday night with an easy 13 to 5 win over Mississippi, now 2-1 in the double elimination series.

Minnesota, champion of the Big Ten, is now the only unbeaten team in the tourney and meets Bradley, 2-1, at 8 p.m. CST today while Mississippi tangles with Arizona, 2-1, at 2 p.m. CST.

The Big Ten club unloaded 19 hits, including three triples in the fifth and a home run by Jerry Kindall in the ninth. Kindall hit a single, triple, double and home run in that order.

Dean Maas, Minnesota hurler, held the rebels to four hits but was hurt by five errors. Mississippi also had a bad night in the field making six blots.

Minnesota's 903 336 161-13 19 5 Mississippi 139 496 900-5 4 6 Maas and Richard Erickson (3) Gibson, Dick Shelton (3), Delbert Farmer (3) and Jerry Ryan, Bill Alford (3).

Arizona squeezed home a run on Glen Festin's perfect bunt down the first base line in the top of the ninth inning to beat New Hampshire, 1-0, in the first night game.

The win gave Arizona a 2-1 tourney record and knocked New Hampshire out of the double elimination series.

Left-hander Joe Kazura of New Hampshire got himself into hot water by hitting Harry Messick, first man up in the top of the

Chiefs Clobber Pueblo; Powerful Stuart Hits 25th

By DON BRYANT
Sports Editor, The Star

Lincoln pounded out 11 hits—including Dick Stuart's 25th home run—to back up Don Rosello's six-run shore and stomp the Pueblo Dodgers 11-2 at Sherman Field Monday night.

It was the second straight win over the Dodgers and once again Stuart played a big part in the proceedings. He drove in six tallies—via his homer, a single, an infield out and Maury Willis' hobble of a hot smash—to run his RBI total to 68 for the year.

The two teams met again Tuesday night at 8 p.m., with Dewey Williams (3-4) going for the Chiefs against Don Faust (3-5) of the Dodgers.

Rosello, getting plenty of help from his mates, pitched a fine game as the Dodgers went down in order through the first six innings.

Pueblo got two men on base as Willis singled to left in the fourth and Larry Stankey beat out an infield blast that Kenny Toothman knocked down but couldn't make a play on in the sixth.

But a pair of double plays erased them before they became threats.

The only runs off Dom came in the seventh when Stankey followed Don Russell's double with a home run. By that time Lincoln had eight tallies.

After Stuart drove in a single run in the first, Joe Zavattaro made it 3-0 in the second with a home run with Hoss Goss on.

Loser Jim Mertlik kept the Chiefs in tow during the third and fourth, but Stuart hit No. 25—a mighty drive high over the left field light towers—with Reggie Grenald and Bill Jackson, who doubled, aboard in the fifth.

A walk, Grenald's double, a wild pitch and Stuart's bouncer added another run in the sixth off Reliever Chuck Ready and scored three more times in the seventh with the help of Zavattaro's double, Rosello's single, John McDevitt's sacrifice fly, a walk and an error.

Dick Wiegand, the Kearney, Neb., soupgawp, kept the Chiefs from scoring in the eighth.

Aside from Stankey's homer, the only other threats the Dodgers could muster came in the eighth when Ken Worley and Chuck Soraci singled and in the ninth when Rosello issued his first walk.

But both times Dom bore down to escape any damage.

By winning, Lincoln kept a half-game ahead of second-place Topeka, victors over Colorado Springs, 6-2.

Smoke Signals—Five Chiefs doubled—Zavattaro, Toothman, Grenald, Goss, Jackson—during the slugfest. And Lincoln left 13 men on base. Worley, a real competitor who hates to lose, added some color to the game in the sixth. When his hot liner hit the third sack and bounced to McDevitt threw him out, he tore off his cap, threw it and then kicked it over the right field bleacher fence.

It remains to be seen whether Stuart can keep up the hot pace and win the league home race. But he's a cinch to beat the Lincoln record of 29—he had 24 as of Monday—set by Lou Limmer.

And if self-confidence has anything to do with it, he'll win the WL title.

After he hit two against Pueblo, I greeted him with "Hi, Lucky!"

He fired back: "Lucky I didn't hit three, you mean!"

Catcher Ken Worley of Pueblo is a real competitor who hates to lose a ball game about as bad as anything in the world.

And Lincoln's ninth inning win over the Dodgers Sunday was a tough one for Pueblo to lose.

But Ken's fit of temper that caused him to leave the ball over the grandstand after the winning run crossed the plate, could have had serious consequences.

As it happened, the ball hit a boy on a bicycle outside the park, but didn't hurt him. If a large number of fans been pouring out at the time, somebody could have been injured seriously.

Rudy Paynich, brother of former NU football ace and Star sports staffer, George, is having a great year with Ft. Worth in the Texas League.

He has a 9-1 record and recently pitched his team back into the league leadership with a 4-0 shutout over Dallas.

Rod Barker struck out the side to preserve the win.

The Press scored twice in the first inning and only a round-about double play prevented further scoring.

Mel Knopp toured on a walk, a steal and catcher King's throwing error.

Kelley got to third on a walk, the first of Black's two singles and a balk. When Hart bounced to second baseman Rolie Barron, the Radio-TV club caught Press baserunners off balance and nipped Kelley at the plate.

One more run scored on an error but the Press could do no more against Jackson.

Chiefs Clobber Pueblo; Powerful Stuart Hits 25th

By DON BRYANT
Sports Editor, The Star

Lincoln pounded out 11 hits—including Dick Stuart's 25th home run—to back up Dom Rosello's six-hit chore and stomp the Pueblo Dodgers 11-2 at Sherman Field Monday night.

It was the second straight win over the Dodgers and once again Stuart played a big part in the proceedings. He drove in six tallies—via his homer, a single, an infield out and Maury Wills' bobble of a hot smash—to run his RBI total to 68 for the year.

The two teams met again Tuesday night at 8 p.m., with Dewey Williams (3-4) going for the Chiefs against Don Faust (3-5) of the Dodgers.

Rosello, getting plenty of help from his mates, pitched a fine game as the Dodgers went down in order through the first six innings.

Pueblo got two men on base as Wills singled to left in the fourth and Larry Stankey beat out an infield blast that Kenny Toothman knocked down but couldn't make a play on in the sixth.

But a pair of double plays erased them before they became threats.

The only runs off Dom came in the seventh when Stankey followed Don Russell's double with a home run. By that time Lincoln had eight tallies.

After Stuart drove in a single run in the first, Joe Zavattaro made it 3-0 in the second with a home run with Howie Goss on.

Loser Jim Mertlik kept the Chiefs in tow during the third and fourth, but Stuart hit No. 25—a mighty drive high over the left field light towers—with Reggie Grenald and Bill Jackson, who doubled, aboard in the fifth.

A walk, Grenald's double, a wild pitch and Stuart's bouncer added another run in the sixth off Reliever Chuck Ready and scored three more times in the seventh with the help of Zavattaro's double, Rosello's single, John McDevitt's sacrifice fly, a walk and an error.

Dick Wiegand, the Kearney, Neb., souhpaw, kept the Chiefs from scoring in the eighth.

Aside from Stankey's homer, the only other threats the Dodgers could muster came in the eighth when Ken Worley and Chuck Rosello issued his first walk.

But both times Dom bore down to escape any damage.

By winning, Lincoln kept a half-game ahead of second-place Topeka, victors over Colorado Springs, 6-2.

Smoke Signals . . . Five Chiefs doubled—Zavattaro, Toothman, Grenald, Goss, Jackson—during the slugfest . . . And Lincoln left 13 men on base . . . Worley, a real competitor who hates to lose, added some color to the game in the sixth. When his hot liner hit the third sack and bounced to McDevitt who threw him out, he tore off his cap, threw it and then kicked it over the right field bleacher fence . . . Attendance was 1,689.

Bums Win 8-6; Duke Hits 2 Out

ST. LOUIS (AP)—The St. Louis Cardinals kicked two eight-inning doubleplay grounders and a chance to take the National League lead Monday night, giving up three decisive unearned runs to Brooklyn in a game won by the Dodgers 8-6. Duke Snider homered twice for the world champions and Don Newcombe gained his ninth victory.

As a result of successive St. Louis miscues by Don Blasingame and Grady Hatton in the eighth, Brooklyn needed only two hits to score four times and drop the Redbirds into third place behind idle Pittsburgh. The fifth-place Dodgers are only a length and one-half behind league-leading Cincinnati.

Although Newcombe failed in a bid for his fifth consecutive complete game, allowing 10 hits that included home runs by Wally Moon and Hank Sauer, the Dodgers pinned a fourth straight defeat on Tom Poholsky. The Redbird righthander, victim of faulty support, yielded only five of Brooklyn's eight safeties in the seven-plus frames he pitched.

A crowd of 26,075 saw Snider keep the Dodgers in the ball game and then pull them even with a perfect 3 for 3 performance that included two intentional passes and a run-scoring single as well as his 12th and 13th homers.

In the eighth a walk to Junior Gilliam, Pee Wee Reese's sacrifice and Snider's single knotted the game. Randy Jackson followed with a doubleplay grounder Blasingame missed at shortstop for an error, Snider reaching third. On another potential twin-killing to Hatton, the second baseman threw past Blasingame for a miscue on which Jackson followed Snider across the plate, scoring all the way from first.

At this point Ellis Kinder replaced Poholsky and yielded a run-scoring single to Sandy Amoros before retiring the side.

In the St. Louis ninth one-out singles by Moon, Sauer and pinch-hitter Red Schoendienst loaded the bases and brought Clem Labine from the bullpen to replace Newcombe. Bobby Morgan, pinch-batting, walloped a three-run double, but Labine stopped Blasingame on an infield out and fanned Hatton to end the game.

Hogan Says Course Easy; Game Rotten

By WILL GRIMSLEY
ROCHESTER, N. Y. (AP)—Stoical Ben Hogan confounded listeners Monday by calling Oak Hill "one of the easiest Open courses I've ever played" and in the next breath adding:
"I'm playing pretty rotten. Unless I improve, my chances don't look very good."
Early arrivals for the 56th annual National Open golf championship, beginning Thursday, immediately accused the Texas master of launching a campaign of "confusion warfare."
"That's Ben," dourly said one of his long-time rivals. "He's talking about how easy the course is so they'll toughen it. He knows he has a better chance on a tougher course."
"Don't let him kid you about his golf," added another contender. "On Thursday, Ben will be 2-1 the best golfer in the field."
Hogan, looking a mite thinner and more tired than when he was beaten by Jack Fleck at San Francisco last year in his bid for an unprecedented fifth Open championship, predicted the tournament would be won by one of the lowest scores ever.
"Do you think your record score of 276 set at Riviera in 1948 will be broken?" Hogan was asked.

"Well, I don't know," Ben replied. "I won't say that I believe we'll have a very low score."
Hogan said he believed the fairways were 10 to 15 yards wider than in recent Open tournaments, offering a bigger hitting area, and that the rough was far less tenacious.
"Greens Putt Well"
"You can reach the green out of the rough," Ben added. "It's not tall at all and it won't get much taller by Thursday. The greens putt well. You putt one and you putt them all."
"The course plays very easy—easy, that is, for everybody except me. I'm playing pretty rotten." Asked what part of his game was giving him trouble, Hogan said, "all of it."

The four-time champion, here since last Thursday probing every area of the 6,902-yard, par 70 layout, has had two rounds of 73 and one of 74.
"But he hasn't been trying for scores," Harvie Ward Jr., of San Francisco, National Amateur champion and a playing partner said. "He's been experimenting on position."

Spangler shot 18 under par golf during the tournament on the 6,292-yard, par 72 course at the Sunkist Country Club.

The long-driving Spangler, native of Lincoln, Neb., took an early lead over Stallings and was in control all the way. He was four under par for the day when the match ended on the 31st hole.

STANTON DELAPLANE POSTCARD

For some weeks past, the Democratic candidates traveled briskly around my neighborhood, seeking the confidence of my neighbors.

Mine, too, I suppose. But I was busy at home. Trying to gain the confidence of some drooping azaleas I nursed through a hard winter. However, I followed the daily journals.

I saw Mr. Kefauver palming a voter who had just popped his head out of a manhole and looked pretty surprised to find a genuine senator at the exit.

Mr. Stevenson mitted various taxpayers. And was photographed with the more photogenic.

Both candidates wore an assortment of odd hats and generally gave the idea they were the genial life of the Democratic Party.

These campaign years shake a sober citizen like me to my sober core. My confidence is not in the campaign but in the fact that we get over it.

The whole national government begins to walk like a high-wire man. And the national news is disturbing as though everybody had gone out for a long coffee break.

When a top General tells me we can be annihilated in 1960, I kind of think somebody owes me some plain talk. Not just a demonstration that the Secretary of Defense can make them shut up.

While I am getting ready to be H-bombed to a reluctant cinder, I would like to know who runs the office where high officials "leak" documents to their favorite reporters.

It may be we are lucky at that. If a candidate is self-searching, his performance during a campaign year should give him enough humility to make the Arthur Godfrey show.

I cannot remember a campaign in which a candidate went up in my book. They all went down. Unless a candidate really likes to kiss a lot of babies, he appears to be a schemer rather than a statesman.

I am willing to take it for granted that most people, my man included, are fond of children.

Putting on a variety of hats fails to fill me with faith. Even if it is the kind of hat I wear myself.

If the man who sells me hats wishes to come out and try on my hat, I would have more confidence in him. I would feel he had my hat interests at heart.

If he ran for President, I think I would vote for him. But if he shook hands with a voter popping out of a manhole, he would have to prove that he was more important than any other voter or I would disown him right now.

I think the kind of candidate I want is a meddler. I would like a man who would delegate authority and then send down stinging memos and carp and criticize. Keep things in an uproar.

If Mr. Eisenhower was raising hob with Mr. Charlie Wilson over who is throwing spitballs in the Defense Department, I would have confidence to spare. Especially if he would do it in this election year. I would be tickled to death if, instead of shaking hands with the man in the manhole, Mr. Kefauver would walk up and hand him a coonskin hat.

"Throw that down the sewer," he would demand. Then he could shake hands with him. Voters like me would rise up and cheer.

Wasted Effort

CHARLESTON, W.Va. (AP) —Thieves who stole a station wagon from a used car lot also took ignition keys to 25 cars. Company officials said it would do no good because they were changing locks on all 25.

BYRON DUNN

"The three projects for Lincoln are a 'must.' Anyone having a job here, owning property, or attending a Lincoln school can't afford not to vote for the three projects. It means the future of Lincoln must multiply its population, and as it grows, everyone reaps the benefits. If we stand still, unemployment, crime, poverty, and business losses momentum, bringing out-state medical patients to Lincoln will be a thing of the past. We're having the latest modern equipment we'll bring many new people to Lincoln. We'll have the best hospitals for these modern facilities. We will have the finest city in the state, one of the most modern of hospitals.

NPPS To Use City Water; Cuts Out Salt

The City Council has approved an agreement with the Nebraska Public Power System for furnishing city water to use in connection with water cooling operations at 9th and K which have previously given off an offensive salt spray.

NPPS has used salt water pumped from its own wells as a cooling agent for its machinery in the K Street plant. Other business concerns in the area have complained that a harmful salt spray was emitted from the water cooling tower.

The use of city water will mean the elimination of the salt spray. Water to NPPS will be furnished on an interruptible basis at the rate of 7 1/2 cents per 1,000 gallons, 20 million gallons per month.

The standard rate for interruptible service is from 9 to 24 cents. NPPS has agreed to cut its city service with a one-hour notice. While the interruptible service will mean the use of some salt water during the summer, the salt spray is not considered as offensive at that time since it evaporates into the air. It is during the winter months that the spray falls in a mist from the cooling tower.

Touring Ministers: Jail Is 'Deplorable'

Eighteen Lincoln ministers touring the Lancaster County jail found the 60-year-old building in a "deplorable" condition.

The Civic Progress group, which is promoting the city-county building, community hospital and city library, sponsored the tour.

"This jail is a moral responsibility of the public," said one minister. "The conditions are deplorable."

New jail facilities would be included in the proposed city-county building.

Legault Heads NU Engineer Department

Adrian R. Legault, professor in civil engineering at the University, was named chairman of the department of civil engineering by the Board of Regents.

Legault, a member of the University faculty since 1947, worked as an engineer with the U.S. Bureau of Reclamation and during the war worked on rocket research at the Aberdeen Proving Grounds in Maryland. George C. Ernst, former professor and chairman of the civil engineering department and director of the Engineering Experiment Station, was named professor and director of the experiment station.

The change in assignments relieving Ernst of chairmanship of the department was at his request so he could place more emphasis on his experiment station work.

Connection With Base Water Main Vetoed

The City Council has denied the request of Homer and Helen Leland to connect a trailer court south of the south entrance to the Air Base to the Base water main.

Public Works Director D. L. Eirckson reported that in view of the constant buildup of the Base and the housing development now under way there, the present 16-inch main could conceivably become overloaded at any time. He recommended any additional connections with the main.

Mrs. Simmons Named

The appointment of Mrs. Robert Simmons to succeed herself as a member of the Housing Authority for a term ending July 1, 1961, has been approved by the City Council.

$2 Million In NU Construction Contracts Awarded By Regents

By ROY CAMPBELL
Star Staff Writer

Contracts were awarded Monday by the University of Nebraska Board of Regents for a construction program involving $2,022,920. The building program will include:

1. A new College of Pharmacy, named Lyman Hall after a former dean, to be housed on the city campus west of Bancroft Hall between U and Vine Sts. Total cost of the building will be $764,899, including architectural fees. It will be financed by the 10-year institutional building levy.

2. A married student housing project for the College of Agriculture campus. With architect's fees included, the total project will cost $369,373. The apartments will be financed from a $3,750,000 revenue bond issue.

3. An addition to the College of Dentistry for dental surgery on the second floor of Andrews Hall. Total cost of the project will be $52,858.

4. A new service building at the College of Medicine to contain laundry servicing and warehouse space. Total cost with architect's fees and a contingency fund will be $287,692. To be paid from the special medical college building levy.

5. A new Student Health Center to replace the present temporary barracks structure on the east side of the mall. The two-story center will contain 32 beds and will cost $321,098 with financing coming out of the recently-issued $3,750,000 revenue bond issue.

Cadet-Teacher Supervisors To Get NU Tuition Grants

Cadet-teacher supervisors in the Lincoln public schools were granted tuition fellowships Monday in Teachers College by the University Board of Regents.

The move by the University will exempt student-teacher supervisors from paying tuition fees for classroom work. The seminar work for one class at one time, would improve relations between student teachers and their advisors in the public schools.

No more than 75 Lincoln teachers would be registered in one of the summer school seminars. The course work seminars normally would cost an enrolled teacher $21 for the three-hour class.

In other approvals, the Regents authorized the appointment of Dean J. P. Tollman of the College of Medicine and John Selleck, University Comptroller, as members of the joint policy board to work with the Omaha Children's Center Area. This will be in connection with the rehabilitation center.

NU Regents Approve 10 Fund Grants

The University Board of Regents Monday accepted the following grants:

- $10,000 from the National Cystic Fibrosis Research Foundation to Dr. G. E. Gibbs, College of Medicine; Esophageal Abnormalities in Fibrocystic Diseases.
- $6,765 from the American Cancer Society to Dr. H. B. Hunt, College of Medicine; Cancer Research.
- $500 from the Department of Agriculture, State of Nebraska, to Dr. H. O. Werner, Department of Agriculture; Potato Breeding.
- $8,500 from the National Science Foundation to Professor G. C. Ernst, Department of Civil Engineering; Load-Slope Deflection Characteristics of Beam Columns and Knee Connection of Reinforced Concrete Up to Failure, and After Repair.
- $5,000 from the National Science Foundation to Dr. E. Gibbs, College of Medicine; Infant Nutrition.
- $9,000 from Charles Pfizer and Co., Inc. to Dr. M. M. Musselman, College of Medicine; Pfizer Surgical Research Fund.

- $1,500 from the Tennessee Corporation through the University of Nebraska Foundation to Dr. Leon Cheslin, Department of Agronomy; Minor Element Deficiencies in Nebraska Soils and Their Influence on Crop Production.

'Sadist Likes Disaster, Will Encourage It'

Dr. James Reinhardt, professor of criminology at the University of Nebraska, said the normal person avoids disaster, but a sadist "is more likely to hasten its fulfillment and, in the more dangerous types, to invite the most terrifying consequences."

He discussed "The Sadistic Murderer" before the annual Law Enforcement Institute at the University of Nebraska Monday evening. The sadist moves toward satisfaction under a compulsion until the goal is reached, Dr. Reinhardt said.

He described masochism as an inversion of sadism in which the masochist derives an unimaginable delight from inflicting the most brutal punishments upon himself.

Richard L. Holcomb, director of the Institute of Public Affairs at the State University of Iowa, told the police officers that "many places of business seem to operate as an open invitation to burglars."

He went on to point out some of the social costs to a firm, aside from actual loss by burglary.

The study is being made by Dr. C. O. Gardiner, associate professor of agronomy. The grant is for $8,000.

Approval also was given for military personnel, in cooperation with the Armed Forces Institute, to take correspondence courses at the University.

A memorandum was approved for publication by the University Press of "Some Potentialities of Experimental Jurisprudence as a New Branch of Social Science." The book is by Prof. Frederick K. Beutel in the Law College.

Authorization was given for approving a $10,000 contract with the Quartermaster Corps of the Army for studying effects of wheat and flour storage on starch properties. The study is being conducted by R. M. Sandstedt, professor of chemistry.

The Regents approved a share-cash farm lease for operation of the Northeast Agricultural Experiment Station. The University is leasing the land to Francis Wiesler for one year starting last March 1, after which the University will begin active operation of the farm.
